WHAT THIS SUMMERIZING REALLY MEANS

What Summerizing means is best explained by the following questions and answers, propounded and answered by local General service station operators, who now offer this service:

"Q.—Why should I have my spark plugs tested and cleaned? A.—To save gasoline and make motor perform better.

"Q.—Why should I have my fan belt checked? A.—To prevent possible overheating and trouble on the road.

"Q.—Why should I have my light bulbs tested? A.—To prevent possible accident or arrest.

"Q.—Why should I have my car lubricated now? A.—Light Winter lubricants do not stand up in Summer weather.

"Q.—Why should I have my transmission and differential drained and refilled? A.—In Summer heavier lubricants are necessary to prevent noise and wear on gears.

"Q.—Why should I have my oil filter checked? A.—Dirty oil means motor wear.

"Q.—What will all this service cost me? A.—Not a cent, except for materials used."

Go Places This Summer—

in a car that won't let you down... in a car that has been properly and expertly lubricated and pronounced fit to hit the highway with maximum safety, economy and dependability.

HAVE IT completely serviced and thoroughly checked for summer by experts—all work guaranteed... And don't forget to fill the tank with MOBILGAS before you start!

CHECK YOUR TIRES FOR SAFETY

Important among the service rendered by General Petroleum stations during the Summerizing campaign, or whenever cars are lubricated in these service depots, is the inspection of tires. Good tires have an important bearing on safe, satisfactory driving; it is pointed out.

Seventy-three hundred and sixty of the serious accidents in one recent year—accidents in which persons were either killed or injured—were due to punctures or blowouts. This is revealed by carefully compiled national records.

These records also show that the heaviest percentage of tires responsible for the trouble were in faulty or poor condition. In some states, official inspectors found more than 50 percent of automobile tires were in either poor or only fair condition.

GREATEST MOTOR ERA IN HISTORY IS PREDICTED FOR 1937

New Cars, New Highways,
New Scenic Delights and Better Service Cause
Drivers to Travel
Farther

Presaging the greatest motoring era in all history in Washington, Oregon, California, Arizona and Nevada, automobile clubs and tourist agencies of this nature - favored area are all set to go.

ASTOUNDING is the statistical information compiled to prove that in 1937 there will be more motorists, and these motorists will travel farther than ever. For instance, here's some information reaching Don Dawson, the Southern division general manager of General Petroleum Corporation, who says:

"Approximately $153,000,000 was spent during the past year in improvement of main highways, county and state roads and city streets in these five states. This gave employment to approximately 25,000 men, at an average of $6 per day, 5 days a week for 62 weeks.

3 Million in West
"Sales of new cars have been going up month by month at an increase of better than 30 percent. Replacement tire sales in the West have reached an all-time peak, according to U. S. tire dealers.

"Number of cars registered in Washington, Oregon, California, Arizona and Nevada is now approaching the three million mark. Jammed bumper, they would make a solid line reaching 8,500 miles.

"Sales of gasoline have been increasing constantly with a gain of more than 12 percent in 1936 over 1935; requests to our automobile clubs from Middle Westerners and Easterners asking for travel information have been shooting skywards, with a gain of more than 30 percent in recent months.

"Traffic summaries taken at state border quarantine stations during 1936 Spring and Summer touring season revealed an increase over the previous year of 49 percent in number of foreign or out of state cars.

"Most startling of all statistics, proving that the people of our own area are traveling more and traveling farther, is found in the state border records of all cars, not counting stages. This traffic increased more than 78 percent last year. We are in a great and growing motoring area. No wonder, when one considers the matchless scenic beauty of the far West and the vast sums spent in highway, motor car, tire, and gasoline and oil improvements, plus better tourist accommodations in our many cities and resorts."

Accidents Due To Car Neglect

Badly worn tires, damaged headlights, actionless brakes, rubberless windshield wipers, missing spark plugs, loose and badly worn parts and other neglected things about cars cause more than 61,000 of the serious automobile accidents in the nation annually. More than 3,100 persons meet death annually in this group of accidents traceable to faulty equipment.

"This is the strongest reason for inauguration of the inspection campaign in stations where General Petroleum products are marketed," says A. L. Knipping, Jr., operations department manager of the company. "This campaign, called Summerizing at this season of the year, provides for careful inspection of everything visible about a car."
