a new man to your school, to your type of athletics, to your own individual problems.

• THERE is no reason why he cannot bring you along the path to team victories just like Donahue did IF YOU WILL GIVE HIM A CHANCE. Take a look at his record as an athlete, as a coach, as a student of athletics and as a man who knows boys. Then consider that he has been in Torrance LESS THAN SIX WEEKS. Why he has hardly had a chance to learn your names!

• IT is my hope that you fellows who were so eager last Monday to oust Coach Cochran will show the right spirit and drop all that stuff and settle down to finishing the present term with the high morale that the school had at the beginning of the 1936-37 session. And next fall, come back to school with the intention of doing just a bit more than the coach expects—not for his sake but for your own.

Everyday Cooking Miracles

BY VIRGINIA FRANCIS
Director Hotpoint Electric Cookery Institute

Time was when John was doomed to a cold dinner if he came home and found a note from his wife saying she had been "called home to mother's." He would have to be satisfied with cold left-overs, for in those days what man would admit that he could cook? Nowadays, however, a man is proud of his broiler to brown the potatoes. But let's tell you how it's done:

Trim and wipe steak, salt, and spread with prepared mustard. Arrange steak on rack of the miracle broiler. Turn oven switch to broil. Set temperature control beyond very hot. When the unit is a glowing cherry red, place the broiler culinary skill and when "weeey" goes home to mother he gives a stag dinner, where a planked steak holds the center of the stage. He spreads the steak with prepared mustard before popping it into the new combined broiler-griddle of the Hotpoint electric range, and serves it on the removable griddle-broiler pan.

Revolutionizes Broiling Method

This new broiler and griddle combination has revolutionized the broiling method of cookery. The broiler rack has wide, flat metal bars with narrow slots through which the cooked-out fat and juices drip and collect in the griddle pan underneath. Not one drop of the savory juice is lost. Then when the steak is done, it is merely slipped from the broiler rack into the griddle where the rich juices have congregated. John arranges the vegetables plank-style around the steak and pops the whole meal under the pan under the broiling unit. Leave door slightly ajar. The number of times a steak is to be turned depends upon the desired degree of cooking and browning. A steak 1½ to 2 inches thick, to be rare, should be broiled 15 minutes; 2 to 3 pounds medium, 18 to 20 minutes; well done, 30 minutes.

Now for the broiled onions. Cut onions about ¼ inch thick and marinate first in olive oil. Then place onion rings on rack with steak and broil about 15 minutes. (The time to place them in the broiler will depend upon the degree of doneness to which steak is being broiled.)

Place the steak right on the griddle pan and arrange mashed potatoes and cooked peas around it. Whisk under broiler to brown the potatoes. Serve at once.

P. S. This new griddle is versatile, too. Placed on the Calrod surface unit it can turn out the "hot-test" griddle cakes ever—four at a time.

ed the Tartars 61½ to 42½. Safranek's high jumping exhibition high-lighted this part of the meet. With a strange combination of lope and shuffle he cleared the bar at 6 ft. 3½ in. to set a new meet record. The Pirate's leap shadowed Tony Nady's performance—by about four or five inches.

James Stewart, a Class C athlete for Torrance, also centered attention on the bar-jumping contest when he leaped 5 ft. 10½ in. Johnny Schmidt in winning the 100 and being given first place in the 220 when Kent was ousted from that position, was high point man for the Class A meet.

American Mother

MRS. CARL R. GRAY, wife of the retiring president of the Union Pacific Railroad, mother of three sons, grandmother of five and great-grandmother of one, is the American mother of 1937.

Mrs. Gray was chosen by the Golden Rule Foundation because of her character, record as a mother, public speaking ability, health, personality and human appeal. She will be charged with the responsibility of voicing the foundation's message on the Golden Rule observance of Mothers' Day, May 9th.

In making her home "the best in the world," Mrs. Gray never let her husband eat alone and never left her children home at night with only the nursemaid for a companion. In spite of the hours devoted to her family and her home she found time for her Sunday school classes and charitable work.

Of the modern world she says: "Cocktails and cigarettes occupy too many mothers' minds; so what can you expect of their children? Nine-tenths of the troubles with children today are caused by their mothers. If mothers would stay at home and care for their children what a different world this would be."
