as officers and directors of the track here.

The entire plant is designed in early California Mission style—even to the stables, and jockey quarters which are of adobe construction.

Color Scheme Rich

Even ornate Agua Caliente a scant 50 miles to the south can hardly compete in sheer color with Del Mar's towered grandstand and clubhouse, with its brilliant colored awnings, its brown walls and green roofs.

The setting at beautiful Santa Anita 100 miles north is equalled if not surpassed. The same type of mountains face the clubhouse, across a rolling valley of orchards, while behind the grandstand is the broad Pacific Ocean almost literally a stone's throw.

Stable space for 500 horses is provided at the track and weeks ago all of that was reserved. In fact, it is rumored that Crosby almost missed setting aside a place for his string of runners. He "forgot" to make reservations, they say, until only a few stalls were left and track officials had to remind him to do it then, or he probably would not be able to watch his own horses run on his own track during the 22-day meeting.

Narbonne Takes Second Place

put and Hamilton tied for third in the pole vault.

Zampierin Holds Record
Neither Torrance nor Narbonne entered athletes in the Class A meet. Peck of Narbonne won his 660-yard Class C race by 10 yards altho he did not break the existing record. Dillon had a two-yard lead in the Class B 120' low hurdles when he fell over the fourth barrier and was left in the dust.

Louis Zampierin's 4:20.3 record for the Class A mile set in 1935, was not threatened Saturday, the winning time by Malone of Fairfax being 4:35.2. The new world's record was established by Jefferson's sensational eight-man mile relay team. This school set the world mark in 1935 and equalled that time (2:55.4) last year. Sloppy passes made no difference as the Jefferson baton-passers as they sped to victory. The anchorman came from behind to win by 15 yards.

Mrs. Higgins Honored At Bridge Party In Wilkes Home Thurs.

Those included were Mrs. H. C. Barrington, Carl Marsteller, L. Flaherty, J. Armstrong, Harry Jacobs, T. Lomire, W. H. Brenner, R. L. Lewellen, Baker Smith, M. Brownlee, Herman Mitchell, the honoree and hostesses.

Mrs. Higgins was presented with a number of lovely gifts and captured the prize for high score in bridge play. Mrs. Flaherty was awarded the second prize and Mrs. Brenner consolation.

SPORT SHOTS

has ever trod the gridiron for Torrance.

Jim Amman, halfback; Bob Trezise, quarterback and Leo Rossett, guard were outstanding on the team. All of these boys were picked on the all-Marine team in their respective positions.

BASKETBALL (Very Poor)

This was probably one of the poorest basketball teams to ever represent the Tartars. It seemed that the boys could not find themselves and lost every game during the season except one (Narbonne). Although the team had a few good players, they did not click as a team, and received very little support from the student body and townspeople, which may have had something to do with their poor showing. David Powell, Bob Sleeth, and Kenneth Hull were by far the outstanding players on the squad.

BASEBALL (Fair). Coach Donahue planned to win the horseshoe title this year, and had plenty of good material to produce the finest team in history of the school. But things did not turn out so well for the boys. Losing their first game to Narbonne, a game that the coach and players thought was in the bag, took the wind out of the team. Gardner high, a team that consistently beats the local baseball nine gave the Tartars their worst shelling in the history of the school's baseball. But the boys came back and fought hard winning several games.

The highlight of the season was the no-hit, no-run game pitched by Elmer McGahan, which placed him as one of the two pitchers that has ever achieved this record in the Los Angeles school system. Elmer McGahan, pitcher, and Louie Briganti, second-base, were the outstanding players.

TRACK (Very Poor). This year's varsity track and field team was probably the poorest to represent the Red and Grey in many, many years. Followers of the scantily-clad competitors believe that the poor showing was due to the lack of material. With only a handful of boys turning out for the sport, and some of them showing up whenever they felt like doing so, Coach Merrill, did his best to mold a championship team, but was unable to do so. Two new records were established, with Jack Kent running the 220-yard dash in :22.2 with a slight wind at his back during the Leuzinger meet, but was allowed the mark by the coaches, and officials deciding that the wind was not strong enough to help the runner. The other mark was established by little Tony Nady, in the annual inter-class meet when he high jumped 6 feet 1/2 inches. Torrance lost every dual meet, except El Segundo. They only placed three boys in the Marine League finals, and did not take a first place. Outstanding for the season were Jack Kent, sprints; Tony Nady, high jump; and Tommy Wilkes, mile run.

THE student body of Torrance high expect a much better year in athletics when the school reopens in September. With most of grid prowess next week."

The 1937 grid schedule will not be released until the first week of school next fall. Because Leuzinger and El Segundo have definitely pulled out of Marine league football competition, league authorities are trying to induce Banning and another school, as yet unnamed, to join the Marines. Coach Cochran says that he will be in New York state this summer attending to private business and will return here early in September to start the Tartar grid machine on its way.

of the players returning for the mainly sport of football, the Tartars' chance for another title is very good, if they can overcome Mr. Comrada, and his always-good Gauchos of Lomita. Basketball will probably be as poor as ever, for lack of interest in the indoor sport. Baseball should be as good, if not better than this year. And if the league adopts soft-ball, as they may do you can give the Tartars the cup on a silver platter. Track should be very good next year, with most of the varsity team returning, and many good boys graduating from the class. Bee and class fee ranks. Yes, things should be different next year for Torrance athletes.
