A. L. A. ANNUAL CARNIVAL DATE SET
Audie Modglin, president of the American Legion Auxiliary to Bert S. Crossland Unit 170 announces the annual carnival of that organization to be held Saturday evening, October 16.

Ella Robinson, finance chairman for the unit is in charge of arrangements.

REBEKAHS INITIATE ONE MEMBER
When Trio Rebekahs held their regular meeting in the Odd Fellows hall at Lomita, Wednesday evening, one new member, Mrs. Eshman of Harbor City, was initiated.

KANSANS LEAVE FOR HOME WEDNESDAY
Recent visitors, at the E. A. Miles home, 2303 Andree avenue, were Mrs. James Hrabec, and four children, of Stockton, Kansas.

With their guests, the Miles family attended the Stockton, Kansas, picnic in Brookside Park at Pasadena, Sunday.

Circus Party Marks Sixth Birthday of Bunky Quaggin

When Mrs. Fred Quaggin entertained with a party to celebrate the sixth birthday of daughter Marlene (Bunky) yesterday, shouts of "There's nothing quite so jolly as a circus" could be heard for blocks around. For that is just what the party proved to be, a circus.

Games, dances and music like that featured in the big tent made the afternoon pass all too soon. Best of all were the cats served at a table closely resembling a circus ground. In the center was the birthday cake like a circus tent with pointed top, flag and everything. Animal crackers were placed all around it. Lolly-pops painted and dressed as clowns served as favors. Pink ice cream in circus cups and individual cakes were, "Oh, so good."

Little folks present were Bunky and sister, Doris Lee, Jane Scott, Dolores Ulbright, Barbara Lou Kelley, Sunny Meacham, Nadine Paour, JoAnn Threnhouse, Irene Atwood, Frances Barrington and Shirley Jean Gruenthal.

R. I. TEACHER ON SOUTHLAND VISIT
Mrs. Carrie L. Bertinshaw of North Scituate, Rhode Island, is visiting her cousin, Mrs. Mary Hopkins and son Fred at 1514 Engracia avenue. Mrs. Bertinshaw recently completed her 25th year of teaching in the Attleboro, Mass., schools.

In company with two Los Angeles teachers, Miss Annie Trull and Miss Clara J. Smith, she drove across the continent to Seattle in July and then, with them, made the trip to Alaska. Back in the states, the party visited at Paradise Inn, Mt. Rainier and spent a week at Yosemite. At the present time the Rhode Island visitor is in San Diego and will return to the Hopkins home to spend the week-end. Then she plans to continue her journey eastward by rail on August 24.

For 36 years Mrs. Clara Eaton, house guest recently of her niece, Mrs. J. E. Barrett, of 25534 Cypress street, has observed life from behind the barred windows of the post-office at Lorton, Neb., where she is postmistress. Mrs. Eaton, who came west to enjoy a 30-day holiday from her postal duties, and Mrs. Barrett had not met since the latter was five years old, nearly 32 years ago.

Mrs. Eaton took over the Lorton postoffice in 1901. The town now has a population of 75 persons, mostly retired farmers and their families. Now in her sixties, Mrs. Eaton had not visited in California for about 20 years. She left Tuesday for San Francisco and Oakland to return home over the northern route.

Although women postal officials are known as postmasters in California, "postmistress" still holds in Nebraska, Mrs. Eaton said.

Round-Up Days For N. B. P. W. Club

Cowboy music and costumes of the wild west will feature the "round-up" party to be held by the National Business and Professional Women of Torrance at the city park Monday night. The committee in charge has arranged a program of rodeo features, in which the members will take part. It is whispered that there will be some fierce bucking bronchos to ride with a prize to go to the best faller-offer. Like all good cowboys and girls the party will feast on good young beef, with juicy steaks as the main course and plenty of plain substantial trimmings. All members are especially requested to come in costume, and to bring their friends, husbands, or dearest enemies, for a good time at the park. Those who are sports-minded may attend the baseball game after supper. Please make reservations right away with Edna Mullin, phone 320-J or Addie Parks, 60.

SCHULTZ HONORED AT ANNIVERSARY DINNER
Surprising Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schultz on their 21st wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Dean L. Sears, 2372 Torrance boulevard, entertained with a dinner party in the Sears' back yard Tuesday evening. Covers were placed for Messrs. and Mrs. Chas. Schultz, Tom McGuire, R. J. Deining, J. B. Scott, C. T. Rippey, H. C. Barrington, R. F. Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. Martha Carlson of Little Rock, Arkansas.

After the dinner the old red truck was driven out, tin cans were tied to the rear and the couple, who have lived together for the past 21 years, took an all over town while others in the party formed an auto parade. "Just an old-fashioned charivari."

NEWCOMER WELCOMED IN LITERARY CIRCLES
A newcomer to Torrance and a welcome personality in literary circles, who is making a name for herself in the field of poetry is Ruth Nine Weisser, popular young matron, who is well known as a newspaper writer and also as a gifted pianist. Two of her most recent poems, "Ocean" and "Evening," have caused favorable comment among literary circles. The poet formerly lived in Peoria, Illinois, but plans to make her permanent home in Torrance.

Paris Styles

MARY FENTRESS

PARIS (U.P.)—Early showings of autumn millinery indicate that hats will keep pace with dresses in the trend toward more elaborate design during the coming fall and winter.

Height of crown and brilliance of color are the distinguishing characteristics of the new hats which, though extreme, are so varied that there will be becoming styles for everyone.

Departing from the usual dark accessories for winter months, hats are going to be bright in reds and purples, greens and vivid blues. All sorts of surprising color combinations are being shown at the Paris openings.

Ribbons, feathers and braid ornaments trim the majority of the handsome felts and contrasting quills are distinctive, placed at every conceivable angle. Hat feathers repeat a bright color accent on a tailored black town dress, and gloves and hats are seen matching in vivid shades.

The high crowns, pinched or squared off for adaption to individual features. Berets are back in glorified forms. There are high berets rising up from the forehead, others that are crushed in the center of the front to give a butterfly effect, and some are intricately folded and twisted close to the head. Suede is popular for crownless hats and is shown in warm, appealing shades.

Crownless hats are shown for evening wear, for restaurants or sports, the type of material determining the occasion for which the hat is designed.

TODAY'S FASHION
Hat showings indicate that bright accessories will be worn with winter costumes—novel color combinations and bright trim will highlight costume color notes.

FASHION TIP
Midsummer blouses in crisp, cool materials are simple in line and trimmed with tucks, stitching and lingere touches.

LOCAL WOMAN ON DISTRICT COMMITTEE
Mrs. Juliette Johnson, past president of Torrance Women's club has been appointed a member of Los Angeles District Federation of Women's clubs Radio committee and will serve under Mrs. R. B. Pettijohn of Hermosa Beach, district chairman.

This committee consisting of seven will have charge of the monthly radio conferences to be held at club headquarters on Hobart boulevard and will arrange all district radio programs.

First Session Announced for Three Torrance Associations

Tenth District Parent Teachers' Association year-books received today carefully outline the program for the school year, announce the time and place of every meeting and school of instruction and definitely point out to local groups that outside speakers are luxuries and as such their expenses should be paid. This point may well be copied by other clubs and organizations.

Parent education will be emphasized in all associations during the coming year since the California Congress Parent Teachers chairman, Mrs. H. G. Henry, points out that a generation of parents who really make a study of the child will eliminate the cause of juvenile delinquency.

The late Eleanor Joy Toll is credited with having started the parent education movement. When rearing four sons, Mrs. Toll discovered that some plan was essential to create an understanding between parents and children. From her appreciation of this situation she worked out the parent education program, which is considered by many parent teacher workers the most important phase of their activities. Today this parent education work is directly under the board of education with Dr. Gertrude Laws as the outstanding leader.

THREE COMRADES by Eric Renarque: The author who pictures so vividly in his books "All Quiet on the Western Front" and "The Road Back" the effect of war upon a generation, has written again a great story. In Germany of 1928, almost hopeless in political upheaval, three comrades exist and earn a precarious living, trusting only each other. They had come back from the war, broken and to find their known world chaos. Their comradeship and later the love story of one of them is all that keeps them alive. The story of their desperate struggle to save that love round which their whole existence had come to revolve, of the sacrifices and tragic gaiety, is told with dramatic intensity, tenderness and unforgettable detail.

GAILLARD'S HILL by Frances Winwals: Early Salem during the witchcraft days is the scene of Frances Winwals' new story. It is a vivid tale with speed and color in its portrayal. The fortunes of half a dozen characters are depicted with power and skill and incredible as some of the incidents may seem, there is historical accuracy behind every scene.

THE MIRACLE OF ENGLAND by Andre Maurois: Is conceded as being one of the best modern short histories of England. Writing as an interpreter of England to the French, the author has been the good interpreter, originating nothing, distorting nothing, but conveying clearly, gracefully and sympathetically one country to the other. This story of England is simple and entertaining and there are few more readable.

A VERMONT BOYHOOD by Thomas Emerson Ripley: This is the recollections of other days by a native Vermonter with plensies and holidays, school days, winter and summer sports, hard work, family reunions and all the pleasures of a way of life that many people remember with nostalgic longing.

A MIGHTY FORTRESS by Le Grand Cannon: Good novels about ministers are not frequently met. The thoughtful picture of a young New England preacher who is entirely real and human, as the reader and of his growth from a selfish to a selfless attitude is the result of clear writing and skillful portrayal of character. It is a remarkably solid and promising first novel and a story long remembered by the reader.

MRS. FELKER HONORED AT LUNCHEON
Mrs. Margaret Felker, 3321 Emerald avenue, who will leave shortly to visit with relatives and friends in Missouri, was honored at a luncheon recently in the home of Mrs. Alice Spehner, 1307 Portola avenue. Covers were placed for the honoree, the hostess, Mrs. Mary Lewis, Mrs. Louise Briney of San Pedro and Miss Etta Blatt of Chicago, Illinois.

Well Folks—
Only three weeks until school starts. That don't give us much time to finish vacations and get the home ready for another nine months of grind.

Such is life! Don't weaken! The house will need a few patches of paint inside and the outside stucco will need a coat of water proofing. The roof may need a coat of asphalt roofing. I noticed your garage doors were out of line—a few screws will fix them.

And then fruit is cheap—why not do some canning? The kiddies can rake the lawn and pull out the dead weeds around the place and kill the snails. There are many things dad can do while mother is supervising the clean-up.

Just hint to dad that he can get everything he will need for all these jobs, including Sherwin-Williams Paints from

HALT THAT RECEDING HAIR-LINE
WITH X-ER-VAC

The Scientific Treatment for Baldness and Falling Hair

A receding hair line is definite indication of approaching baldness. Stop it immediately... Use X-ER-VAC, the therapeutic method that halts falling hair and promotes regrowth of hair.

The X-ER-VAC, developed by Dr. André A. Cuto, of Cincinnati, applies the principle of pressure-and-vacuum, so successfully used in treating vascular diseases, to the revitalizing of the inactive hair cells. The effectiveness of this scientific method for hair regrowth has been convincingly proved, both in Dr. Cuto's clinic—where some 500 individuals have been treated—and in barber and beauty shops all over the country.

If falling hair means baldness eventually certain for you, begin X-ER-VAC treatments at once. We are licensed to give authorized X-ER-VAC treatments under the methods developed by Dr. Cuto.
