10-Year-Old Boy Bandit to Get Treatment

front of his residence on El Prado. Two pairs of glasses, a pair of gloves, a flashlight and other articles were taken. Both thefts pointed to the boy who had been questioned a week ago about robbing cars in the downtown district.

Police were under the impression that the youngster was in custody of the juvenile authorities but an investigation proved that he had been released to his parents shortly after being taken to Los Angeles. The juvenile officers had told the parents that the boy could not come under their jurisdiction without a formal police citation.

Recommend Treatment

When brought to the police station for questioning in regard to the bakery truck and Levy car robberies, the boy readily admitted both accusations. He said he gave the money he obtained from the truck to his 14-year-old sister "because she made me." His sister, he told the police, gave him part of it back. When she was questioned, the girl returned $2.20, saying she had spent the rest for candy, a pocketbook and stockings. The boy also told officers that he had ransacked a Ford coupe parked near The Herald office but that he didn't take anything from it "because there was nothing there I wanted."

After several conferences with the boy's mother, police here gave her an order to take the lad to the juvenile authorities this week. An investigator came here to obtain more information on the case and he said that the boy was undoubtedly mentally unbalanced and that he would recommend special medical treatment.

The mother declared that parental punishment appeared to have no effect on the boy and she offered to make a statement of his past history with a view toward giving juvenile authorities and psychiatrists a basis for curbing the youngster's robbery complex within the confines of an institution.

Three Governors Get Together

Morals Charges Are Reduced

await sentencing.

Local police officers who investigated the charges brought against the former employee of the National Supply company, declared that they would "under no circumstances" recommend he be given probation.

Granville Hollingshead, 85, charged with two counts of a statutory offense in Torrance last July 2, filed a motion for a new trial, following his conviction last week, and the motion is to be argued Sept. 2, in department 40 of Superior court.

Tree Requests to Be Probed Here

Members of the city council will meet Monday afternoon at 4:45 o'clock to consider several requests for the removal of trees in parkings. A field trip will be made to the places where trees are wanted out.

Japanese Views On Conflict Told by Local Men

"I look on Japan's activities in China in the same light as the United States' intervention in Nicaragua. The Americans went into that Central country to protect their nationals' interest. There was no thought of conquest. That is the same situation in China today," the Japanese said.

Papers worn to fleeces Japanese in this country are taking, naturally, a keen interest in all reports from the undeclared war front. Japanese newspapers are eagerly read and exchanged until they are worn to shreds. Neither Ueda nor Sacki expect that subjects of Emperor Hirohito now in this country will be summoned back for duty with the Rising Sun colors.

"Won't Last Long" "We have a good army and navy and millions of men in reserve," Sacki said. "Those of us who are in the United States have not had the training or army experience that our native Japanese have had and we would be just about useless except in case of a dire emergency."

How long will the Sino-Japanese conflict last? Both local men expressed the same opinion as that shared by the majority of the Allies and the German powers at the on-set of the World War: "It won't last long . . . a few months."

AQUEDUCT STRIKE IS AIRED HERE

oil of Torrance to instruct Mr. Rippey to urge the directors to open the issue to negotiations at once so that we can come to an early settlement. The strike is costing the taxpayers of the District about $40,000 daily and it can be settled in short order.

Rippey had previously reported that he did not believe the M. W. D. staff was deliberately discriminating against the men. In regard to the "job security" point, he stated that the work on the Aqueduct is decreasing as the job is being finished. His principal point was that the District could not enter into any agreement because it was a political entity.

SOAP BOX DERBY IS PLANNED

ton, representing Wilmington.

A special race rules committee is to be composed of one man from San Pedro, Wilmington and W. K. Adolph, who will represent Torrance and the surrounding communities. Adolph, a former auto race driver, has volunteered to serve as starter for both the semi-finals and finals here. Wilmington and San Pedro boys will probably hold separate semi-finals in their home towns and then come here for the concluding event to determine the champion racer of the district.

Rules Are Given
There are only ten rules for the Derby. These should be carefully studied and followed to the letter by boys desiring to compete because non-conformances will mean disqualification in the semi-finals to select the outstanding winners in the two classes. Class "A" will be for young drivers between 13 and 15 years of age and Class "B" for those between nine and 12.

The remaining nine rules are: (1) Each car must be constructed by the boy entering the race; (2) No welding or brazing is allowed and no auto parts are allowed in axle; (3) Cars must be steered with steering wheel; (4) Steering cables must be chain or wire, rope is not permitted; (5) Only double drag brakes or rear wheel brakes will be permitted.

(6) Car frame and body must be of wood. Metal may be used for body covering; (7) Car must be driven by one boy who shall drive from a sitting position; (8) Car and driver must not weigh more than 250 pounds; and (9) The cars must each pass an examination to insure that it is within the required limits which are as follows: Overall length, not more than 72 inches; height not more than 30 inches; tread not more than 36 nor less than 30 inches; wheel base not less than 40 inches; wheels not more than 12 inches in height; wheels not more than two inches in width, and tires must be solid rubber.

BOYS WILL RACE AT PALOS VERDES SATURDAY

Rolling down Palos Verdes Drive, 30 boys in their home made soap box cars will strive to smash the world's record set last month in Detroit, in the first annual Palos Verdes Estates Soap Box Derby to be held at 2 p. m., Saturday, under the sponsorship of the American Legion, post 187.

First and second place winners will be awarded Derby cups and free trips to Catalina Island. The two winners through their performances Saturday will win the right to challenge the representative of all posts of the American Legion in district 19 on the same course at Palos Verdes Estates at a later date. The site of the Derby may be reached by driving to the Redondo entrance of Palos Verdes Estates. Legionnaires will be posted along the road to direct traffic.

know Mr. Craig personally. You are dealing with conservative and not radical men in this issue. You need the cooperation of such men and you should deal with them in eliminating discrimination if that exists." Rippey answered that the District board was always willing to negotiate but has not been called on a second time. Councilman Tom McGuire suggested that each city in the District should take care of its own workers in the matter of discrimination and a settlement be worked out that way.

This was objected to by Craig and Sessions who declared that the men "were standing together" and were not willing to be broken up by separate settlements affecting a few men at a time.
