Colorful Desserts Add Festive Table Note

Teapot Collecting is Local Woman's Hobby

Two large packing boxes were received by Mrs. Willis M. Brooks of 1328 Portola avenue during the past week, which, when opened, revealed seven teapots.

But they weren't the ordinary table-variety teapots. One is believed to be about 500 years old. It has ancient Greek characters inlaid on its bowl. Another is reputed to have come from China some 200 years ago on the first China Clipper in the days when sailing vessels and not seaplanes were known as Clipper ships.

The others, tho not so ancient have had years and years of service. Four of them came from Mrs. Brooks' son Phillips who obtained them in Hartford, Conn. He is studying at the Rockefeller Foundation in New York. The shipment of three more choice teapots were sent by Phillips and his brother

Comet from Harmony, Penn. They are now added to Mrs. Brooks' collection of some 50 prized tea makers which she has been collecting for several years. They are of all styles, shapes and colors. Some are glazed china, others are stone ware and one prized possession is a jeweled container with a jade handle and inset with quartz amethysts.

Mrs. Brooks has received a number of her teapots as gifts from friends who knew their value but who learned she was making the collection and believed their possessions would be of greater value to the local woman.

When School Bus Stops, Motorists Must Halt Also

Motorists should remember that they are required by law to come to a full stop whether meeting or overtaking a school bus—that has stopped for pupils on the highway.

The vehicle code provides that "automobile drivers either meeting or overtaking a school bus halted on any highway outside of a business or residence district to load or unload pupils must come to a full stop and then proceed not faster than ten miles an hour for a reasonable distance." Public school buses are easily identified by their chrome yellow and bear the words, "School Bus" on front and rear.

Turkeys to Cost More This Winter

The 1937 turkey crop is about 10 percent below last year's, federal economists were quoted as saying from Washington this week.

Simultaneously came a report Tuesday from the manager of the San Diego Cooperative Poultry association stating that "turkeys for the Thanksgiving and Christmas feasts are going to cost more this year, and there will be fewer birds on the market."

Frozen Dainties Lend Sparkle To Menus

Color has come into its own during the last two or three years, according to Jessie E. Ewing, home economists expert who is in charge of the free classes in modern cookery to be presented at the Civic Auditorium next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Sept. 29, 30 and Oct. 1.

There's more color in most everything these days, she points out, and even in the guest dinner an attractive table is generally an appetizing table, and the modern hostess should strive for a colorful as well as tasteful menu.

During the three day classes, in which Torrance home managers will be given new recipes and free prizes and many new ideas on modern culinary science, Miss Ewing will use in her demonstrations one of the new Electrolux gas refrigerators. Frozen salads and desserts are becoming more and more popular it is pointed out, and one of the reasons for their popularity is the color which they add to the menu.

Gelatin salads and many ice creams give the home manager many opportunities to make her table "sparkle." These desserts and salads and many others are prepared at the classes.

Here are a few suggestions offered by Miss Ewing that will help make the frozen dessert a success:

1. Make sure your recipe has the proper proportions. Too much sugar will prevent freezing.
2. Keep all materials as cold as possible. Cream may be put into the freezing tray for a few minutes to thoroughly chill before whipping.
3. Whip cream only until it will hold its shape. Longer whipping makes a less smooth dessert.
4. Combine whipped cream with other ingredients carefully, using a folding motion.
