

Land Use Maps Near Complete

Land use maps covering the southern third of Los Angeles county and showing the use to which every parcel of property is put are now practically completed under a WPA project supervised by the county regional planning commission.

Bryant Hall, research engineer who has directed the project for the past 18 months, said that the maps, totaling 480 sheets about two by three feet, will be bound shortly and made available to the public early next year.

Each map shows an area 6,000 by 8,000 feet in accurate dimensions, and the use of each parcel is shown not only by color or but by a numbering system patterned after the Dewey decimal system. Thus while all educational institutions are indicated by the same color, brown, a glance at the numeral will show whether it is a public school or a parochial school, and whether of elementary, secondary or college status.

"Labor of Love"

It required more than a year to work out this numbering system alone, which can be used to indicate several thousand uses at a glance. The color system also was carefully laid out, green indicating any kind of agricultural use and the unused parcels being uncolored. The location of each building is shown by a black dot on each parcel.

The project is unusual because all of the 25 unemployed draftsmen on the WPA project had to pay their own transportation costs, and much of the work had to be done in the field. Neither the county or the WPA would provide mileage allowance, and Hall explained that the project was a "labor of love" for most of the men.

WPA officials have come from Washington to view the finished product, stating they believed it to be one of the outstanding WPA projects of the nation. Hall also is receiving letters asking for information on the project.

Richfield Laying Pipeline Here

A six-inch oil pipeline was being laid here this week by Richfield Oil company workers to connect the firm's El Segundo plant with operations south of here. The line runs down Cedar avenue from Sepulveda boulevard to the Santa Fe tracks and parallels the rail line west.

Only WILSON & CO. Makes Tender Made Ham

"It pays to insist on WILSON'S Tender Made Ham"

George says: "Wilson's Tender Made Ham is the best I ever ate. It's a real ham, not a ham made of cornmeal and molasses like the others."

A MAN'S HAM DISH
Place ham in rack in shallow, open baking pan. Mix brown sugar with 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce and rub the mixture over the ham. Make a dressing by mixing bread crumbs with remaining Worcestershire sauce, onion, green pepper, salt, pepper and water. Cut diagonal slashes into the ham, down to the bone (about 2 inches apart). Stuff the dressing into these openings and dot ham with cloves. Bake in a moderate oven (350°) for approximately 1 1/2 hours.

"THE HAM YOU CUT WITH A FORK"

● Your mother and her mother before her served ham. But never—even from your great-grandmother's days to now—has anyone anywhere tasted ham like Wilson's "Tender Made." It's new—different, because the Wilson Secret Process retains all the savory natural juices, giving this ham unbelievable tenderness and palate-warming ham flavor.

Insist upon Wilson's Tender Made Ham. It pays in many ways. Comes with the bone in, also boneless, in whole, half and quarter ham tins or sliced by the pound, at your Wilson dealer's.

Parking Line Change Wins High Praise

"It's just grand now when you want to park downtown!"

"Give Billy Gascoigne a bouquet for changing the angle of those parking places—he deserves it!"

"Say, even my wife can park downtown now and come home without a single fender scratched or bumped!"

These were some of the comments heard by The Herald this week from delighted motorists who have discovered that the new angles painted on pavements allow for greater ease in parking their automobiles in the business district.

William Gascoigne, street superintendent, also admits that he has received "a lot of nice compliments" for the change from a 45-degree to a 35 degree parking angle. In addition to being easier to enter and back out, the new angles appear to give motorists a better rear view and thus escape the periodic rear-end collisions which were frequent when traffic was at its peak and the cars had to be headed almost directly into the curb.

Street Work Plan Necessary to Get $8,190 Gas Fund

Torrance has $8,190.95 coming from gasoline tax allocations from the county, the city council was informed last night. The county road department advised that a street improvement program should be mapped by the city and forwarded for approval in order to obtain this sum. City Engineer Frank R. City Debt in Error 45 Years
