Mildred Neelands Becomes Bride of Odell W. Moorman

QUANDTS HOSTS TO 60 AT GOLDEN WEDDING DINNER

party. And daughters Mrs. Alice Thomas of Torrance, Mrs. Martha Dunn of Compton, and Mrs. Edith Thatcher of Altadena told bits of girlhood memorabilia.

Two of those present in the little cook house attended the wedding of their hosts. They were Adolph Quandt, brother of the bridegroom of 1887, who now lives in Delphi, Merced county, and John Holbough of Wilmington, whose 90 years are resting heavily on his still-broad shoulders. They, too, recalled the early days when Torrance was nothing but bean fields and Redondo merely a sheep camp and watering trough.

Another Quandt brother was present—Alexander of San Francisco, who celebrated his 50th wedding anniversary in 1935. He told of how he came to Los Angeles 54 years ago and after two years went to San Francisco to the firm of Quandt Chemical company and A. Quandt and Sons, painters and decorators. And there was Mrs. Ottilie Pfeuffer, sister of the Quandts, who accompanied her 14-year-old brother from Prussia to New York when she was just 16. She revealed that while her brother whose golden wedding the happy throng was celebrating that night had but 25 cents to his name and no knowledge of English, she had $2 and no English. Mrs. Pfeuffer now lives in San Francisco.

61 years in California. Her snowy white hair marveled, and dressed in a new velvet gown, Mrs. Quandt beamed thru her glasses from beside her active, slightbuilt but strong husband of a half-century as the homage of their sons, daughters, and friends testified to the affection felt by those present for the honored couple. She could cast back thru the years and see herself as Hannah Youngmans, who was born in St. Clair county, Michigan, and came west 61 years ago this month with her family headed by a lumbago-stricken father as a result of his Civil War services.

The Youngmans settled on a ranch a mile north of Wilmington. Eight years later Miss Hannah, who knew the toil of a farmer's daughter as a young girl doing her daily chores, met Carl Quandt who was then working for Holbough on an adjoining ranch and preparing to buy his first acres north of "the hills" which are now world-famed as Fales Verde Estates.

When they were both 21 they were present at Quandt's father, his brothers Frederick (since deceased) and Adolph and his sister, Mary, who also has passed away. Two weeks later they moved into a two-room cabin and lean-to on the five-acre plot which was the nucleus of the Quandt property to come. This first home stood on the site of the two-story house at the corner of Ocean avenue and Sepulveda boulevard that later became the birthplace of five of their children.

Advise "Work Hard" Thus within a space of less than a block, the Quandts began their married life, raised their children and sold out their dairy business to engage in dairy service during the span of 50 years. It is a matter of pride to them, and rightly so, that never once during that half-century of land-ownership have they failed to meet their taxes. This was no easy accomplishment because there have been lean years in the Quandt family history just as there have been panics, depressions and economic foldrums for the nation.

Months before tax-paying time there has been some mighty scurrying about the Quandt homestead and many a favorite chicken, turkey, goat and pig had to be sacrificed to add to the store of "egg money" kept in a china cup, the bank of last resources for the family, to meet the current levy. From the vantage point of 1937 those days of good and bad years now appear as a tapestry for living.

The Quandts have but one suggestion for those yet to embark or those on the sea of matrimony: it is "work hard and do your job, no matter what it is, well." Mrs. Quandt, who could no longer load all her household equipment in one wagon as she did when she left home to make one for her one and only husband, adds this thought:

Building Church Addition "I think that if the wife would consider her faults as well as any she may detect in her husband and mix them up together with a lot of home work there would be no time for any serious quarrels. And if a wife is always mindful against running into debt then she helps her husband instead of hindering him in his big job of keeping a roof over the family's head and bread in the cupboard."

Not unkindful are the Quandts of the blessings they have received from Providence. About three years ago Quandt built a church for the Welteria community and today he is finishing five new Sunday school rooms on the church property. His gift to the people of Welteria and his way of recognizing the benefits he and Mrs. Quandt have enjoyed in their 71 years.

ALTAR SOCIETY PLANS HALLOWEEN PARTY What is described as a "grand Halloween card party" will be held next Tuesday evening, Oct. 26, at McDonald hall on Carson street by members of the Altar Society of the Catholic Church of the Nativity. All proceeds will go into the fund for the construction of a new church here.

Those seated by eight o'clock will get 150 points bonus added to their scores which will determine the winners of a large number of gifts. The public is cordially invited to attend the affair, Rev. Father Joseph V. Fitzgerald said.

Ceremony Held in Parsonage of Local Church Saturday

Miss Mildred Neelands, youngest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Neelands, 1333 Engracia avenue, and Odell Wesley Moorman of Redondo Beach, exchanged nuptial vows in the parsonage of the First Methodist church last Saturday evening. The only attendants at the ceremony were the bride's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Woodman, Rev. Bernard C. Brewster officiated. Immediately after the wedding the couple went to their newly furnished home at 1617 1/2 216th street.

The bride has spent her entire life in Torrance. Her wedding Saturday was a surprise to her many friends as no announcement had been made of the couple's intentions. She is a graduate of Torrance high school, Summer class of '36 and of the San Pedro Beauty College. For the past few months she has been in charge of Myrtle's Beauty Shop on Torrance boulevard. The groom, a graduate of Redondo Beach high school, class of '32, is employed in the welding department of the International Derrick company.
