

Ball Club Schedule Revamped

A new schedule was set up this week by the Southern California Baseball association for the Torrance-Lomita Merchants because the local squad was unable to keep its engagement for a game last Sunday with the Goodyear Service club on account of rain.

Next Sunday the T-L Merchants will play the Walker Roofers who have "Lefty" DeJohns and Ken Moler, both holding professional contracts, on their pitching staff. Manager Walt Morris of the home team will start Patalano on the mound and hold Hamilton in reserve.

Other games booked for the T-L Merchants are: March 26 with the Goodyear Servicemen; April 3, Sunset Gasoline; April 10, the first of what may be a series of games with the Torrance Merchants for the "championship of the city"; and April 17, E.K.O. nine.

Noted Editors, Writers and Artists Send Contributions to Narbonne High's Annual

To carry out the theme of a newspaper, the staff of Narbonne high school's yearbook, El Eco, has worked out a novel system to introduce each section.

Staff members in charge of the various sections have contacted noted journalists who have contributed short articles which will be presented as an introduction to each division. For instance, Colonel R. McCormick, editor of the Chicago Tribune, has sent an article telling of the significance of the front page. This article will introduce the front page section.

Likewise, William Allen White, famed editor-publisher of the Emporia (Kansas) Gazette, has contributed an article to introduce the editorial section. For the magazine section, the staff members received a cartoon from the Walt Disney Studio. "Cholly Angeleno" of the Los Angeles Examiner sent a message to head the society section.

Wayne Cox, sports editor, received a statement from Sid Ziff, sports editor of the Herald-Express, to head the sports section. And the Narbonne students are eagerly awaiting a promised piece from Edwin Schallert of the Los Angeles Times for the drama section.
