Man Whips Recession
With Couple of Guppies

PHILADELPHIA (U.P.)—A pair of guppies enabled John Jackson of Philadelphia to lick the depression and the recession. The tropical fish were given to Jackson and his wife in 1929, soon after they were married. Jackson took an active interest in them and a short time later was laid off from his job as a shop salesman.

"By that time I had learned a lot about tropical fish," Jackson said. When the guppies began multiplying he decked his tiny rear yard with glass to provide a hothouse for them. He started and made a business of selling tropical fish. "I've done very well, too,"

Walteria Boy
Follows Father
by Joining Navy

Donald M. Minor, 17, of Walteria believes what's good for his father is good for him. He has been accepted for enlistment in the U. S. Navy and is now at the Naval Training station in San Diego. His father, J. A. Minor of 23842 Park street, retired after 16 years' Naval service.

Also accepted for the Navy this week was Jimmie H. Borlick of 836 Sartori avenue.

Jackson added, "Last year I raised and sold over 10,000 descendants of my original pair. So all along I've been wondering why all this talk of hard times."

Navy Readying Major Alaska Air Base at Kodiak Island

First and exclusive photos of preparations by the U. S. Navy to establish its principal Alaska air base at strategic Kodiak Island are presented above by United Press Illustrated. War in the Orient, involving Japan, China and Russia, is expected to hasten appropriation of funds by the next Congress for this air base, selected by the Navy in 1932. Twenty-two men under command of Lieutenant C. K. Brodie, right top, obtain geological data with apparatus and operators shown at bottom left, at Women's Bay, which is close to the town of Kodiak. At top left is Kodiak—oldest town in Alaska, which has a church built by Russians in 1796. It is also one of Alaska's most picturesque towns. A leading night spot is the aptly named Northern Light Grill, at bottom right. Kodiak Island is close to Alaska's mainland, midway between the tip of the Aleutian Islands and the Canadian border.

WIDE SUPPORT FOR JUSTICE

Convinced that the only assurance of getting more convenient and more prompt service from the justice court for Torrance and Lomita residents is to elect a man from this section of the vast Inglewood township, friends and fellow-townsmen of Attorney Torrance C. Welch are rallying to his support in his race for Justice of the Peace, Office No. 1.

Welch has promised that if elected he would establish a consolidated office in this end of the township for the convenience of Torrance and Lomita residents.

Night court sessions for small claim cases will also be held if workingmen indicated that such a plan would be helpful to them and avoid loss of time from their regular employment, Welch states.

While this is the first time that Torrance C. Welch has run for public office, he has been identified with this community from its very inception. In the formative days of Torrance, Welch was an assistant of the late Jared Sidney Torrance, founder of the city. Since then he has been closely associated with the growth of this city and knows what it needs, particularly in regard to matters coming before the justice court.

Has Strong Outside Support

From the time he was a young man, Torrance Welch has been reared in the atmosphere of the law office. His father, Theodore Welch, practiced law in New York and his grandfather, C. C. Torrance, was at one time District Attorney of Erie County, New York. After attending Yale law school, young Attorney Welch worked in his father's law office and passed the California bar.

In addition to his legal experience, Welch has had extensive business training to round out his qualifications as an understanding jurist. His campaign workers claim he is receiving substantial support in the city of Inglewood and other communities in the northern section of the township. This strength, coupled with the big vote he is expected to receive in Torrance and Lomita make his chances for success very encouraging, his campaign workers state.

Pacific Crest
Opening New Lot Section

A new section of Pacific Crest cemetery, located on 182nd street and Inglewood avenue a short distance from the new KNX-CBS transmitter station, is now being developed under the personal supervision of N. A. Calhoun, vice-president and general manager of Pacific Crest Cemetery company.

"We intend to make the new part of the cemetery a beautiful site," Calhoun said this week. "It will be attractively landscaped in a quiet, dignified parklike manner and will be an integral part of the facilities offered at Pacific Crest."

Lots in the new tract are being offered during September and October for one-third off, the cemetery official stated. Pacific Crest has long been known as a serene location for the last rites to be accorded those who have passed the Great Divide. It offers every service in a setting of peace and reverent reflection and has given complete satisfaction when called upon for interment or cremation.
