Ann Harding In Shaw Play at Biltmore Oct. 10

Ann Harding as "Candida"—that sounds like important prospects in the realm of make-believe. The lovely stage and screen star will appear in person at the Biltmore theatre, Los Angeles, in the famed George Bernard Shaw comedy for two weeks only, beginning Monday evening, Oct. 10.

"Candida" has remained for over 40 years the most successful of all of Shaw's comedies. It is said to have been Shaw's answer to Henrik Ibsen's "The Doll House," written at a time when dramatic literature was undergoing a rapid change. Miss Harding appeared as "Candida" in London last season with great success and Bernard Shaw himself is said to have come into the city to take charge of rehearsals. Usually noncommittal, Shaw is said to have been very pleased with Miss Harding's interpretation of his greatest heroine, and not only did he attend the opening night but several subsequent performances.

Paul Cavanagh, popular Broadway actor, will appear as the Rev. James Mavor Morrell; Ernest Cossart will enact the comedy role of Mr. Burgess, a character Shaw created for his outflow of philosophy, and Eugene Marchbanks, the moon-struck poet, will be played by Clay Mercer, a brilliant newcomer to the legitimate field, and a discovery by Miss Ann Harding. Phyllis Loughton, dynamic young directress from Broadway, who has worked with Norman Bel Geddes productions for the last few years, is responsible for the staging of "Candida."

TORRANCE HIGH LIGHTS... by Harvey Abramson

Bees Lose Game... Last Thursday the football season officially opened for Torrance high. The Tartar Bees met the Leuzinger Bees in a practice game. Altho the Torrance boys fought hard, the visitors showed great power and consistently drove through the center of the line. Last Thursday evening being the regular monthly birthday affair, the sons and daughters of Virgo were feted. The birthday cake, made, baked and decorated by Mrs. Lulu Kent and her daughter, Mrs. Earl Kent, carried its pink candles in the suggestive shape of a big question mark. Three celebrants, Mrs. Williams, Mr. Munson and your reporter, attempted the candle blowing-out at one fell swoop; the gentleman alone was successful.

We were favored with two baritone solos by Dick Hogue, with Mrs. Hilda Findley as his accompanist; two trombone solos by Orvan Barnard, Mrs. George Mershon at the piano.

Much of the business session was given over to details of the dinner and rally for the centennial of the 17th Congressional District to be held in the Civic Auditorium, Oct. 20, when we expect our candidate to be present. Alice Faye Said Top Song-Pluggers

Irving Berlin was the man who voted Alice Faye Hollywood's best song-pluggers. He should know whereof he speaks; for three decades ago the master of American melody himself was a craftsman in that modern version of the minneaters. It was Berlin's early career at the beginning of the century that started him on the path to writing his own tunes.

It was Irving Berlin who, thru 20th Century-Fox, has given the film fans a graphic history of our turbulent times since he first wrote "Alexander's Ragtime Band" for an exhilarated world to shout from the houseposts nearly thirty years ago.

Berlin "plugged" among 600 hits of his own creation, such songs as "Alexander's Ragtime Band," "Ragtime Violin," "International Rag," "When the Midnight Choo Choo Leaves For Alabam," "Everybody's Doin' It," "Blue Skies," "Marie," "Heat Wave," "Easter Parade" and "Check to Check."

These are all heard insinuating their reminiscent melodies into the stirring story of "Alexander's Ragtime Band," which opens Friday at the Plaza theatre in Hawthorne.

With such stars as Tyrone Power, Alice Faye and Don Ameche, and with a brilliant cast headed by Ethel Merman and Jack Haley, Berlin's melodies will be augmented by his two latest compositions, "My Walking Stick" and "Now It Can Be Told."

Cleaner School Buildings, too in Natural Gas Communities

An important point! For the welfare of youth is affected in some degree, at least, by its surroundings. Happily, everyone in this region gets the benefit of clean air and sootless buildings. And one big reason is the cleanliness of the popular fuel, natural gas. In factories and in homes, it gives the intense, economical heat required, without smoke. No other form of energy can do the job with the same cleanliness and economy.

For utmost satisfaction gas should be used in equipment that provides up-to-date, scientific improvements. See for yourself how desirable the new appliances are—drop in at a dealer's or the gas company. And ask about the easy terms. SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA GAS CO.
