

Santa Returns Letters After Checking With His Conduct Book

Old Fellow Says He'll Do All He Can to Fulfill Hearts' Desires

Arriving back here this week from the North Pole came another batch of "letters to Santa Claus" that had been dispatched by local youngsters, supremely confident of Santa's careful perusal of their missives. Attached to the letter-load was the following notation:

"Read with great interest and all contents noted in my Big Book. Now, I'll check thru my Good Conduct record to see how the writers have behaved during the past year and if I find they deserve their requests, you may tell them I'll do all in my power to fulfill their hearts' desire."

"SANTA CLAUS," Here are the letters Santa read and returned during the past week:

POSTOFFICE OKAYS USE OF SEALS

Announcement is made by Postmaster Earl Conner of a special official ruling by the postoffice department permitting the affixing of Christmas Seals to the face of letters and packages until Jan. 15.

"The new ruling, which will be of special interest to stamp collectors," Postmaster Conner explains, "applies only to the Christmas Seal bearing the crimson double-barred cross of the National Tuberculosis association, represented in Torrance by the Los Angeles County Tuberculosis and Health association."

"It is fitting that the U.S. Postoffice should thus honor the Christmas Seal which was originated by a postal clerk in Denmark, to raise funds for care of children afflicted with tuberculosis. Since that time the Christmas Seal movement has spread around the world more than 75 countries. Since 1907 when the Christmas Seal has been introduced to the United States the death rate from tuberculosis has been reduced to one-fifth its former terrible toll, and millions of young lives have been saved from the disease."

"As postmaster of Torrance I cannot too strongly urge that everyone use Christmas Seals generously. It is with pride that we note that practically every piece of mail received in this postoffice bears one or more Christmas Seals."

County to Lease Tax-Deeded Sites

Lease between the county and the state by which the county will lease tax-deeded properties for housing county indigents, was scheduled to be given approval this week by Chairman Roger Jessup of the board of supervisors.

The lease, revised for a third time, imposes no obligations on the county except to make such repairs to the property as it desires, not in any event to exceed the rental value which the county would otherwise pay for the housing of the indigents.

Andros. P. S. My sister Patsy wants a doll some shoes and a new dress also some nuts & candy."

Here's One Thing City Don't Have to Purchase!

"There's a lot of things the city of Torrance needs in the way of equipment but this is one we certainly don't," declared Leonard Young, acting city engineer, one day this week as he was opening his mail.

The unwanted equipment was a snow plow, manufactured in Davenport, Iowa, and advertised as "an essential to any city."

City Offers $15 to Settle Damage Claim

John Wright's claim for repairs to the top of his car, assertedly caused by an overhanging tree limb projection over a city street, may be settled for not to exceed $15. This limit was set by the city council Tuesday night after hearing Wright's second claim letter. City Attorney John E. McCall, who said he could never determine the city's liability, was authorized to make the settlement.
