Receive Final Batch Letters to Santa

CONTENTS SHOW WIDE RANGE OF 'WANTS' BY YOUNGSTERS

Here is the last installment of "Letters to Santa Claus" written by local youngsters, rushed to the North Pole for Santa's scrutiny and then returned to The Herald for publication.

If any young letter-writer fails to find his laboriously penned missive among this group or in the three previous installments, let him not be dismayed—undoubtedly Santa has received his communication and will give it close attention.

"Dear Santa Claus: Bring me a farm, a little tractor, a little typewriter, a spy glass, a little airplane like Jimmy standifer's, a Mickey Mouse book and a big Poppey book and a Mickey Mouse Sheriff book and a bunk bed. And I want a pair of boxing gloves. I've been good and

Giant Sequoia Again Is Yule Tree For All

GENERAL GRANT NATIONAL PARK (U.P.)—A little band of pilgrims braving snow and cold will worship on Christmas Day at the shrine of the Nation's Christmas tree, the towering General Grant tree, high in the Sierra Nevada mountains.

The ceremony will mark the 14th successive year in which sacred services have been held at the foot of the 297-foot giant which starts its roots from more than 5,000 years ago—centuries before the Christ Child was born in Bethlehem.

As the worshippers who have trocked from the warm, green valleys of California into the mountains, sing and pray, their service will be shared from Fresno, over a western network.

Scared by fire and the onslaught of wind and rain thru 50 centuries, the General Grant stands on in a forest of giants as the natural shrine for a practice that has been carried on for 13 successive years despite frequent wind and snow storms and blizzards.

Second Tree of World

The General Grant tree is the second largest in the world, being exceeded only by the General Sherman tree, which is 272 feet tall. The "nation's Christmas tree" is 297 feet tall and measures 33 feet in diameter at the base, 16 feet at a height of 60 feet and 12 feet at a height of 200 feet.

The designation of the General Grant tree as the nation's Christmas tree has added significance as the result of a survey by the American Forestry Association which revealed that Sequoias were overwhelmingly the most popular tree in the United States. Thereafter, the Sequoia Gigantea was honored as the official tree of the nation.

"Star of the East," a solo written especially for the nation's Christmas tree ceremony by Charles Wakefield Cadman, composer, and Grace Osburn Wharton, author, will be a feature of the musical program. As the story goes, Cadman, playing a folding organ was stirred to compose the melody while seated beneath the giant tree.

Engineer Suggests Contour Plowing of Burned Areas

Contour plowing of burned areas was suggested to county officials as a means of combating erosion, particularly in the Santa Monica mountain areas.

E. T. Soderholm, an engineer, pointed to the methods employed in other countries where intensive cultivation is carried on, and said he felt confident the method would work in the mountainous areas of Los Angeles county.

Cost would be insignificant, Soderholm said. The furrows should be reasonably horizontal, and a drag should follow the plough to compact the soil and smooth the edges of the furrows, he said.

The furrows would check water from running down hill with destructive force and prevent soil from being washed away, Soderholm believes. His letter is being referred to Spence Turner, county forester.
