To a young couple leaving for their honeymoon, breathless at the ordeal of a ceremony punctuated by the soft sobbing of the bride's family (nobody ever sobbs for a groom!), there is nothing to be said. They hear no voices but each other's. They are the only inhabitants of an exquisite universe of moonbeams and dream-stuff.

Yet presently, in this realistic old world, the dreaming must give way to practicalities. The wise bride knows that from now on that gala evening of chiffon gowns and soft music may come a little less often; that cookbooks and budgets and marketing must also enter her world. And to help her proud young husband get ahead, she learns to stretch the paycheck, to place stability a little ahead of luxury.

Just at first, however, she may not realize how far her new responsibilities extend beyond her home and through the community. It may seem fun to drive to a larger city to shop in huge emporiums. But is it wise, for many reasons. First, enterprising hometown merchants, with the advantage of lower rentals than big city shops, fully meet the challenge of metropolitan competition both in quality and price. Second, the value of the newlywed's home, the security of the bread-winner's job, the future of his business, must be determined by community growth and prosperity. From home-spent dollars come the taxes that maintain adequate police and fire protection, that keep up parks and playgrounds, improve schools and elevate standards of education.

So, when the bride shops at home, she builds for the future of her own family by contributing to the community welfare. Every bride, whether she recognizes it or not, has an important role to play in building California.

ENGAGEMENT IS ANNOUNCED HERE

Mrs. Frank Carr of 1752 Andree was hostess at a luncheon party yesterday to announce the engagement of her daughter, Emmilla, to Ralph McCoy of Eldon, Iowa. The wedding is scheduled for Sept. 24. Guests present were the Misses Louise Thompson, Jane Chandler, Margie Doolittle and Eunice Korff and the Mesdames Lois Roland, Ruth Walker and Mildred Adamoll.

DINNER PARTY HONORS MRS. CARLOS STRATTON

Abramson, wife of the Torrance Rotary club president, at the family residence on Post avenue. Other dinner guests will include Mrs. Ray Casey, Mrs. Grover C. Whyte, and Mrs. Wm. Bratton.

Walter Hansen Appears On Club Program

The Music and Literature division of Torrance Woman's club sponsored the musical tea presented in the clubhouse, 1422 Engracia avenue, last Wednesday. The affair attended by some 80 persons proved one of the finest programs of the year.

Mrs. A. H. Shilgo, president elect, introduced Mrs. Kathryn Buffington, music chairman, who in turn introduced Walter Hansen, tenor soloist at First Church of Christ, Scientist, in this city, who sang a group of three numbers and answered the applause with an encore. Mrs. Buffington played the piano accompaniment.

Mrs. Shilgo then presented Mrs. W. W. Horst of Long Beach, who gave a comprehensive review of Pearl Buck's newest book "The Patriot." Mr. Hansen closed the affair with a second group of numbers, which were sincerely appreciated by the audience.

Marie Morgan served as chairman for the musical and was assisted by Mrs. Ruth Rogers and Mrs. Mildred Mitchell. Mrs. Garnet Johnston was hostess while Mrs. A. Enid Miles and Mrs. Ruth Rippey poured.

RATHBUN-WYNE WEDDING TONIGHT

Miss Ruth Wyne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wyne, 2306 Gramercy avenue, will be the bride of Jack Rathbun of Redondo Beach, this evening at 8:00 p. m. in the Los Angeles Wedding Manor.

Miss Wyne will wear an ensemble of navy and white sheer with matching accessories and will have as her only attendant Mrs. Harold Irvine of Redondo Beach. Mr. Irvine will serve as best man for the groom.

Immediately after the wedding couple will leave on a brief honeymoon and will be in their new home, 1631 Madrid avenue, Sunday, June 11.

The bride has resided in this city since birth and is a graduate of the local schools. Mr. Rathbun graduated from Narbonne high school and is now conducting his own business in Redondo Beach.

150 ATTEND IMPRESSIVE O.E.S. CEREMONY

One hundred fifty attended the Torrance chapter Order of Eastern Star meeting held in the Masonic temple Thursday evening. Courtesy night was observed and chairs were filled with officers from chapters of nearby communities.

Under the good of the Order Mrs. Phoebe Milburn was escorted to the east, where Worthy Matron Sally West presented her with a fifty year pin, a certificate from the grand lodge and an old fashioned bouquet. Mrs. Milburn graciously accepted the honors and explained changes in the order as they have taken place over the period of years.

At the close of the meeting Mrs. Milburn was escorted to the banquet hall where light refreshments were served and the honoree presented with a purse.

A feature of the evening's entertainment was the magic performed by Rev. F. T. Porter. Mrs. Lola Hoover served as social chairman for the evening, and Lillian Dye as entertainment chairman.
