168 Leaving Schools Next Week

Principal Merle Helbach of Torrance Elementary school revealed this week that he will not return here next fall, having been transferred to Raymond Avenue school on Normandie between 75th and 76th streets. This assignment will be nearer his home and is regarded in the nature of a promotion. Helbach was recently elected vice-president of the L. A. Principals' club.

His successor here will be Leonard Dykes, who is now concluding administration at the Carmelita school in Maywood. Dykes, a graduate (Class of 1915) of the University of California, is a major in the U. S. Army Reserve. He served in the World War with the University corps in the ordnance department. Dykes is said to be an able school head, is married but has no children.
