350 ATTEND $30 MEETING

How 72,000 "Ham and Eggers" will serve as precinct workers and election overseers was detailed to a crowd of about 350 at the Civic Auditorium last night by Willis Allen state campaign director for the Retirement Life Payments association. He declared that extreme care would be taken on Nov. 7 by the workers to prevent any fraud.

Allen and a Mr. Bonstine addressed the assembly here, which was called by Mrs. Elsie Smith, chairman of the 68th assembly district organization of the $30-a-week-for-life movement. She announced another meeting would be held in the Auditorium some time next month. A group of colored entertainers presented a program following the talks and a door prize was awarded.

Fire Destroys Barn Horse, House, Auto

Starting near the barn, flames spread to that building, and then to the house. Letters to the Editor

ABOUT TOWNSEND PLAN
Editor, Torrance Herald:

"Townsend Party Shows Decrease in Voter Total." Such are the headlines of an article in the Aug. 3 issue of Torrance Herald. We wonder why that particular item should rate the headlines. Why not make special mention of the growth of the other particular parties. Can it be that the writer is especially interested in seeing such a decrease in registrations on the Townsend Ticket?

Well, why worry anyway. The Townsend Party still functions in California and the Townsend Idea is spreading rapidly in every state in the Union in spite of assertions to the contrary. And there is still quite an amount of "Pension" sentiment in evidence, when one considers all the organizations working to that end. A sentiment that will not be denied.

Congress did not "kill" the Townsend Bill, when it voted "no" a few weeks ago. It only showed us just where to go to work, the better to accomplish our task. Our national convention meeting in Indianapolis, Ind., just a few days after this "killing" mustered over 10,000 delegates from all parts of the United States, accepted the challenge and began to move. History has a way of repeating itself. It may so happen (as has happened before) that there may be new faces in the next Congress.

Of 20 California Congressmen, 16 voted for the bill and one Senator out of two, favors it. Wouldn't it be a splendid thing to have California 100% Townsend minded in 1941? Stranger things have happened. Why not approach the Townsend Idea with an open mind, and honestly and sincerely seek to know just what it really is.

It is not brought out as a panacea for all the ills, economic and otherwise, to which we, as a nation, are subject. But it is offered as a safe, sane, logical solution of some of the problems we face today. As such it is entitled to intelligent consideration. We ask only that. Is there anything unreasonable in asking such a thing?

Factory Frolic Finances Sought

per lineal foot plus 50 cents for lighting during the three nights. Thus if a group desired to operate a 10-foot stand on the street, the cost would be but $2.50 plus 50 cents for lighting or a total of $3, John E. Miller, who is in charge of the concessions points out. He has a map of El Prado and is now receiving applications for space. The fee booths in the Civic Auditorium, where displays are to be presented together with special entertainment, will be $25 each. This includes erection of the booth, installation of attractive backgrounds and a large name sign—all of a uniform design. Lyle C. Doan is handling this part of the Frolic.

Lining Up Program
Harry M. Abramson, who is in charge of the parade features, has a book of suggestions on how to construct and decorate floats which he will be glad to let anyone interested see. E. E. Murchison is in close contact with the decorating committee's action when funds are available for this part of the program.

Mrs. Ethel Sears has a large amount of information already at hand concerning entertainment features and she is ready to complete arrangements for the various acts and artists whenever the Frolic fund is raised. Judge Robert Lessing is in charge of publicity for the event and George Figueroa, who is to direct the sports and contests features, is lining up a varied program of special attractions.

As "contact man" for the Frolic committee, L. B. "Slip" Kelsey's chief duty now is assisting the finance committee. Later he will coordinate all of the Frolic features and aid in whipping the three-day celebration into shape for presentation.
