LOYOLA CONTINUES NOTRE DAME SYSTEM

When head coach Mike Pecorovich blows the football horn at Loyola University next month to officially open the 1939 season, a flock of sophomores will tear out of the tall grass destined to make up the bulk of the variety that will represent the Roaring Lions.

Graduation left plenty of holes in last year's machine, and the new Lion mentor is faced with the problem of building from the ground floor. However, he has excellent material at hand, what with the rough and ready gridders from last year's freshmen who stomped opposition under foot with the hardest charging peagreen outfit in the history of the school.

Springing a surprise right out of the bag, Coach Mike revealed plans to make his small fast backs right halves instead of left which has been traditional at Loyola. This shift which may be overlooked in the hustle and bustle at the first of the season, promises to revolutionize the Lion attack.

The switch moves Earl "Ed" Elsey, last year's slippery elm on the left side of the backfield to right halfback as well as Fitch and Grady. This, of course, brings over last year's right half Bernie Flaherty to left. Tony DeLellis, a pint sized left half of 1938 will mark the signals at quarterback, along with Bob Trezise, and husky "Lefty" Farwell shifts from his old position at right half to fullback.

"There is no such thing as a Pecorovich System," the genial head coach informed this writer last week, as he cleared desks for action. "We play the Notre Dame system as the Old Master, Knute Rockne devised it, and taught it. I think the Rockne football is as good today as it was yesterday. Our position is getting the boys to play it as it should be played."

LOYOLA UNIVERSITY FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

With Bill Acre, Leo Rossett, John McEadden and Bobby Trezise on the Loyola varsity this year, Torrance would be interested in following the former local high school stars... so here is the Loyola Lions 1939 schedule:

Sept. 22—Loyola vs. Redlands U. Gilmore Stadium, night game.
Sept. 27—Loyola vs. Whittier, Gilmore Stadium, night game.
Oct. 6—Loyola vs. College of Pacific, Gilmore Stadium, night game.
Oct. 15—Loyola vs. St. Mary's, L. A. Coliseum.
Oct. 21—Loyola vs. Arizona U. at Phoenix, Arizona, night game.
Oct. 27—Loyola vs. Hardin-Simmons, Gilmore Stadium, night game.
Nov. 5—Loyola vs. San Francisco U., Gilmore Stadium, night game.
Nov. 11—Open date.
Nov. 17—Loyola vs. San Jose State, Gilmore Stadium, night game.
Nov. 26—Loyola vs. Santa Clara, Gilmore Stadium.

You will notice that most of the Lions games will be played on Friday night this year, at the Gilmore Stadium.

With Michael J. Pecorovich as head man, and William Sargent and Billy Byrne, assistants, the Catholic school should have one of their best seasons in years.

The Loyola Frosh schedule as follows: Sept. 23, Bakersfield J. C. at Bakersfield, Sept. 29, Compton J. C. at Compton, Oct. 23, St. Mary's at Gilmore Stadium and Nov. 18, Santa Clara Frosh at Santa Clara.

It is understood that one or two local athletes may enter as Freshmen at Loyola in September.

SHELL WINS FIRST GAME IN WICHITA

Progress of the National Semi-Pro Congress games in Wichita, which started last Friday with Shell A.C., winner of the California championship, defeating the Kansas titlists was interrupted Monday and Tuesday on account of rain, according to reports received here. The Shell nine is scheduled to play the 1938 national champions from Buford, Ga. either today or tomorrow, it was learned from the Shell Refinery at Dominguez today.

Entering the last inning on the tag end of an 8 to 6 score, the Shell Refinery club, winners of the California state championship here July 31, proceeded to hand a stunning defeat to the Wichita Civics, champions of Kansas, in the opening game of the National Semi-Pro Baseball Tournament at Wichita last Friday night. The greatest national tourney's crowd in history jammed the field to see the slugging club from Dominguez crush the home town boys.

A copy of The Wichita Eagle's Saturday morning edition was received here by Carl Gilbert from his father, Carl, Sr., who is assistant manager of the Shell nine. The Eagle gave the Shell nine great credit for its initial victory in the national games.

"It was a game featured by every kind of play in baseball, easily the most interesting opener of the five held here," The Eagle reported. "Despite the fact that Los Angeles (the Shell club is composed of Dominguez refinery workers) had been highly touted in advance, the great crowd, estimated at 9,000, was rather stunned at the rout of the Kansas prides."

"However, the coast clouters deserved it on the record book, outpitch Wichita 15 to 9 and led most of the way in a game in which only two innings were scoreless. The Shells not only hit like demons but turned in some fine fielding with short-stop Turk making a downright spectacular catch in the fifth to turn a Civic rally into a Shell double play." The Eagle's account of the game continued.

The Californians drove Wichita's best pitcher from the mound in seven innings and looked like winners until the eighth when the Kansas champs forced Charley Lightfoot's retirement. Duncan "Lefty" Grant, Shell first baseman, went in to pitch then and was wild but he scored the winning run with a crashing double in the last half of the final inning.

Inglewood Group Entertains Here

Highlighted by the hula number performed by winsome, lithesome Leota Oakley, a trio song by the Newell Sisters and string music by the Firemen's Trio, a caravan of Inglewood Junior Chamber of Commerce members made a brief stop in front of the Herald office yesterday morning to publicize the Inglewood Fiesta and Flower Show week that begins Saturday evening.

The party was on a tour of all surrounding cities. The Inglewood event will include a large number of special events every afternoon and evening next week. A cordial invitation is extended all Torrance residents to attend the festivities. A number of local youngsters have entered the Jitterbug contest which begins Wednesday evening, Aug. 23.
