STUFFED with a savory mixture of smoked Norwegian sardines, cream cheese and chopped pickles, green peppers make rings around the salad course in something new for Spring.

Colorful as well as tasteful are the bright wedges of rosy tomato, pale green endive and silvery sardines, which make this salad as pleasing to look at as it is to taste.

Good and good-looking, it's also a time-saver to the busy hostess, because the salad may be made ahead of serving time and put in the refrigerator to chill, and the sardines are always ready to "snare" right from the tidy can! The easy directions for making and serving the salad are given below.

Norwegian Pepper Salad

Select firm medium size green peppers. Blend together cream cheese, mashed smoked Norwegian sardines, chopped pickles and lemon juice. Season to taste and stuff peppers with this mixture. Wrap in waxed paper and chill. To serve, slice peppers across with sharp knife. Place on salad plate in overlapping slices and garnish with curly endive, whole sardines and quartered tomatoes.

After a short business session, in which reports were given of the last district meeting, and a committee was appointed to plan the club's booth at the Factory Frolic, delicious refreshments of ice cream sandwiches and cake were served.
