Marine School Students to Dance Nov. 22

Officials of the Marine League are preparing for a combined pep-rally and dance to be held Nov. 22 at the Torrance Civic Auditorium.

This affair will be open to students of Marine League high schools — Torrance, Narbonne, Banning, San Pedro and Gardena — only. Approximately 200 Narbonne boys and girls are expected to attend.

The rally-dance is being held at the close of the 1939 football season to promote continued goodwill among league schools for the coming basketball, track and baseball seasons.

Don Briggs and his 14-piece orchestra will provide the music and a small admission fee will be charged. Tickets may be secured at the door.

County Manager Asks Supervisors to Reinstate Age Aid Agreements

Unless Los Angeles county supervisors reinstate their plan of requiring signed agreements from aged aid recipients not to encumber property without the consent of the board, the county will have to employ 250 additional persons at a cost of $350,000 annually to comply with the state's alternate plan.

County Manager Wayne Allen informed the supervisors of this situation today in recommending the board again require these signed written agreements from aged pensioners.

The State Social Welfare Board ordered the supervisors to obtain signed agreements from aged aid recipients and supervisors complied with the order until protests of Townsend Club members caused a discontinuance of the policy.

County Counsel J. H. O'Connor has held that the board of supervisors is bound to obey orders of the state body and that unless it is obeyed the state can withhold its contribution to these pensions.

County Manager Allen outlined the elaborate precautions the county must take in event it does not obtain these agreements and held that the county would be liable and might be called upon for millions of dollars in refunds in event a pensioner had property not discovered by county investigators.

Townsend Club officials are reported to be preparing to file suit to contest the requirement of the State Social Welfare Board.

Street Light Survey in Progress Here

A city-wide survey of the street lighting system is now being made by City Electrician Oscar Butterfield and lighting engineers to see if it can be improved without too great a cost. City Councilman Tom McGuire told his fellow board members Tuesday night.

Buckeye State Misnamed
TOLEDO, O. (U.P.)—Ohio should be called the "Horse-chestnut state" instead of the "Buckeye state" if a tree census here is indicative. There were only 428 buckeye trees as compared with 1,615 horse-chestnut trees identified in the count.

Young Democrats Rap Dies Probe Ask Peace Parley

By resolution "unalterably opposed to our country entering this present war in Europe," the Young Democrats of Torrance this week asked President Roosevelt "to call a World Peace Conference in which the United States should offer to serve as the neutral mediator of the present European conflict."

The budding Bourbons also adopted another resolution which condemned the Dies committee, now investigating un-American activities, and called upon the President and Attorney-General Murphy "to do everything within their power to preserve the Bill of Rights and to protect all progressive organizations from violation of their civil rights by the Dies un-American Committee."

Clarence Pinkham of Portola avenue is president of the Young Democrats here and Delphine Murphy Smith of 1611 West 220th street, is secretary. The organization has about 26 members, it is reported.

STRESS CIVIL LIBERTIES
Copies of the resolutions have been sent President Roosevelt, Senators Downey and Johnson, Congressman Lee E. Geyer and the press. The memorial concerning a call for World Peace conference begins:

"Whereas, There are some people in the United States mainly representing big business and profiteering interests who would like very much to see the United States enter another World War" and continues with the statement that "it is the admitted mistake that the last war which was to 'Save Democracy' utterly failed in this respect and only served as a slogan under which the worst kind of destruction of civil rights and liberties was carried on, also placing the American workers in a position where they were unable to show objection, especially in an organized manner."

In taking a crack at the Dies committee, the Young Democrats of Torrance assert: "The suppression of all civil liberties has in the past been a method of stifling all opposition of entry into war by the munitions makers and profiteers and today the Dies Committee has been using the same unlawful, intimidating methods to suppress the right of the people to voice their opinions either for or against the war."

The group believe "the Dies Committee will be used by these profiteering groups for more stringent suppression of civil rights in the future" hence its call on the President and Attorney-General to protect "progressive organizations."

Local Oil Field On Rapid Decline

Despite deepening to around 5,100 feet, 37 wells in the Torrance-Lomita field now have an average individual potential output of only six and one-half barrels per day, according to a recent survey. The wells were deepened at an average cost of approximately $30,000 a well, according to state petroleum reports.

The survey shows that there are 241 wells in the field with a combined daily potential of 7,089 barrels or 29 barrels each. One company is reported to have a group of three wells yielding, collectively, nine barrels a day.

Only nine wells in the Torrance-Lomita district, the survey continues, are rated capable of producing 100 barrels a day, with Pacific Western's Marble No. 22, now rated at 130 barrels a day, the best producer in the field.

The Harbor City oil field, however, the survey indicates, has 53 wells with an average of more than 50 barrels a well. The best producer is O'Donnell No. 72 with a potential of 72 barrels a day.

Extending the proven area of the Lomita-Torrance field to near the northwest corner of Lomita boulevard and Avalon boulevard, General Petroleum has completed the Poggi No. 15, flowing 125 barrels, 29.5 gravity, cutting 8.0 and cleaning up from 5180 feet.

Police, Firemen's Benefit Shows Due Friday Night

Two shows of Fanchon and Marco vaudeville with Art Whiting's orchestra providing the music will be presented tomorrow night at the Torrance Police and Firemen for their third annual benefit entertainment.

Mickie Gifford will be master of ceremonies introducing the 10 acts of vaudeville. The first performance will start at 7 o'clock and the second show is scheduled to begin at 9:30. Police and firemen are selling different colored tickets to the performances.

The net proceeds from the entertainment will go into the two departments' welfare fund, out of which comes the money for the firemen's annual Christmas party for Torrance youngsters and the policemen's donations to various charities.
