City 'Goes Easy' On Highway Plan

City councilmen decided Tuesday night to await the decision of the Southwest District Highways Association on the matter before approving the ambitious project of an alternate Highway 101 from Santa Monica Canyon to Fort MacArthur, as proposed by the Venice Improvement Association.

The alternate would be used chiefly for military defense purposes, the Association stated in the letter to the council asking for its recommendation. It would follow abandoned Pacific Electric rights-of-way thru Santa Monica, Ocean Park and Venice and from Playa del Rey to Clifton.

At that point the proposed alternate road would take off thru Hollywood Riviera and the Palos Verdes hills to San Pedro. Torrance has little property involved in the plan but, on recommendation of City Engineer Leonard Young, the council decided to defer action on the proposal until the highways association has investigated it and come to a decision on its worth.

OFFER NEW COURSES

INTEND TO WED

Notice of intention to marry was filed this week by Tony V. Santich, 27, of San Pedro, and Mary V. Ahrendes, 23, of 1737 254th street, Lomita.

Lots Purchased for Library in Waleria

Purchase of three lots between 242nd street and Railroad avenue on Park street by the Torrance city council Tuesday night paved the way for construction of a new library building in Waleria early in 1940.

The grant deed to the property was accepted from the Long Beach branch of the Bank of America and ordered recorded. An appropriation of $578.50 was allocated to pay for the lots.

City Engineer Leonard R. Young has not yet been instructed to draw up plans and specifications for the new building but he has received a sketch of the structure as approved by the Los Angeles county library which serves Waleria thru the Torrance library.

A request from the Waleria Civic Organization for 24-hour fire service in the community was filed by the council this week for future reference.

A petition, signed by three property owners on the street, requesting that Ocean avenue north of Highway 101 be graded to its full width of 50 feet for about 1,000 feet was also filed. There are only three homes on the street now and all are within 300 feet of Highway 101. City Engineer Young reported. The present residents are served with water by both Young and James Loughridge, president of the Waleria Civic Organization, said was a "serviceable road."

Dairyworker Admits Periodic Thefts of Milk Bottles Here

For several weeks residents in one part of the city have been annoyed by periodic thefts of milk bottles from their doorsteps. With the arrest of John P. DeBoar, 39, Dutch dairyworker living in Gardena, early Sunday morning those thefts should come to a halt.

DeBoar, who was arrested by Fireman Jake Benner who said he saw the Hollander in the act of taking the milk bottles, admitted to police that he had taken a number of the containers during recent weeks. He was charged with petty theft and released on $50 bail to appear for trial tomorrow.

Miss Shirley Mosen of Fillmore, Utah, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jensen for the holiday season. She plans to return to her home some time next week.

Consult with versatile Mr. Emmet—His plan will be good; none will condemn it. Well, folks, Torrance poets certainly came back strong. But, don't be too sure of holding your leadership. Lomita poets have one up on you yet and you will have to write a lot of rhymes—all of you to beat those poets who are not only far above average in competence, but, courage, as well. To both Lomita and Torrance poets in their friendly rivalry. Good Luck!

Dorothy Warren Becomes Bride of James Nisbet

In the presence of more than 45 friends and relatives assembled in the beautifully holiday appointed Brentwood Heights drawing room of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. A. J. Stoner, Dorothy Warren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry N. Warren of 1743 Andree, became the bride of James E. Nisbet, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Nisbet of Chincum, Wash., on Dec. 24. The ceremony, performed under a gracefully draped poinsettia archway, was read by Rev. Robert Young, former pastor of the First Methodist church of Torrance, who now occupies the pulpit of the Redwood Methodist church of Los Angeles.

The bride, radiant in her robin's egg blue chiffon afternoon gown and corsage of sprays of gardenias and tulle, contrasted to the vibrant red of the large pom-pom poinsettias. Her navy blue hose, shoes and other accessories completed her smart wedding and going-away costume.

Miss Marjorie Edmundson of Phoenix, Arizona, the bride's only attendant, was lovely in an old rose afternoon frock. A tallman rose corsage completed her outfit. Paul Farmer of Tempe, Arizona attended the groom as best man.

The bride's mother wore a crushed raspberry afternoon gown made of the same material as her daughter's wedding gown. Her corsage was tallman roses. Mrs. Stoner, grandmother of the bride, was attractive in a new spring paisley print with tallman rose corsage.

Preceding the ceremony, 11-year-old accordionist, Bobby Peris of Santa Monica, played "I Love You Truly," "Because" and "Love's Old Sweet Song." He also played Mendelssohn's "Wedding March." At the close of the ceremony, the couple received the first congratulatory telegram from the groom's parents and brother and sister of Chincum, Wash.

The informal home reception was presided over by Mrs. Stoner. The bride's aunt and uncle of West Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Stoner, presented a beautiful two tiered cake. The hostess was assisted in serving by Mrs. Fred Hill, Mrs. Walt Hammill and Mrs. Harry L. Snyder of West Los Angeles.

Will Live in Arizona
The newlyweds left immediately for an unannounced honeymoon until school resumes again in Tempe, Arizona. They will make their home in the copper state.

The guest list included, in addition to the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Warren of Torrance, grandparents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Orville Hudson, also of Torrance; Miss Marjorie Peris, Mrs. Carrie Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johnson of Santa Monica; Mr. and Mrs. John Fox of Redondo Beach; Edward Stoner of Canoga Park; Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Mullarky, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Stoner, Mrs. Harry L. Snyder, Mrs. Walt Hammill, Mrs. Fred Hill of West Los Angeles; Mrs. Rose Laufeld and Miss Lucia Laufeld of Fullerton; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Johnson, Miss Kathleen Johnson, Owen Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Fri, Betty Jo and Rosemary Fri, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Farmer, parents of the best man and Glen Farmer of Placentia; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Finch, Mrs. Mabel Chase and Mrs. Robert Young of Los Angeles, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sites of Long Beach.

Group Revives Old English Custom; Buffet Supper Follows Carolling

Replacing all their cares and worries with gay festivity in this, the one time of the year when "Tis the season to be jolly," Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ashley observed for the second consecutive Christmas Eve what promises to develop into one of Torrance's most charming and popular Yuletide customs—a jolly old-fashioned song-fest with Christmas spirit galore.

More than 60 folk, friends and relatives of the hosts, gathered around the piano from 9 to 12 o'clock Sunday night, while Mrs. Ashley played the beautiful and familiar strains of "Silent Night," "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear," "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen" and others of the lovely old carols, to revive again one of England's most noted and delightful Yuletide heresages which, through usage and adoption, is fast becoming America's own.

Then, promptly at midnight, Mrs. Ashley served a host of colorful, homemade refreshments in keeping with the spirit of the season, from a buffet table made festive with gay red and green appointments. As a climax to the happy holiday event, the hosts presented their guests with handsome individual booklets containing the words of all the carols they had sung throughout the evening, advising them to "practice up" for next year's carol-fest.

Twenty-three places were laid on gleaming white linen last night at the combined family reunion, gay holiday and happy birthday table of Mrs. L. G. Barkdull when she complimented her mother, Mrs. Effie M. Quayle, of 2326 Sonoma, on the occasion of her birthday. Festive holiday appointments added to the holiday spirit of the event, and lent a note of color and charm to the entire affair.

Special guests, in addition to the honoree were Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Quayle of Grass Valley, son and daughter-in-law of Mrs. Quayle, who are here for the holiday season.

Others included Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Brown of Pasadena, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Marshall of Huntington Park, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Quayle and Mr. and Mrs. John Dauley of Long Beach, and Jess Quayle, Julia Quayle and the hosts and their family, all of Torrance.
