

Nine Patients Enter Hospital

Nine new patients were received at Torrance Memorial hospital during the past week. They were:

John Ausmus, Lomita, Monday for surgery; John H. Brown, Los Angeles, last Thursday for surgery; Miss E. Marion Crittendon, 1630 Arlington, Torrance Elementary school teacher, last Thursday for surgery; and Nick Chaykowsky, 812 Cota avenue, Tuesday for treatment of a fractured ankle and leg, suffered in a fall.

Mrs. Mary Jorgensen, Lomita, Wednesday for surgery; Mrs. Thelma Kemp, Redondo Beach, for surgery last Wednesday; Mrs. Verna Menveg, Wilmington, for surgery on Tuesday; Mrs. Mary Ritzer, Redondo Beach, for medical care on Sunday, and Mrs. Mary Swain, Wilmington, for surgery on Tuesday.

Young Democrats Attend Conference

Clarence Pinkham and Peter Gads represented the Torrance Young Democrats club at the Conference for Democratic Action last week-end in Fresno. The next meeting of the local club is Monday evening, Jan. 29, at 8 o'clock at 2171 Torrance boulevard.

EXPRESSES THANKS

A letter of thanks addressed to the city council and city employees by Glenn Jain, assistant city engineer, for the floral offering tendered in tribute following the recent death of his mother, was read at city council meeting Tuesday night.

Census Director Clarifies Regulations on Information

Considerable circulation has been given recently to an erroneous statement to the effect that there is no legal compulsion to respond to the inquiries of census enumerators, according to William L. Austin, director of the census.

Letters to the Editor

CLARIFIES CENSUS

January 22, 1940
Torrance Herald,
Torrance, Calif.

With reference to the article appearing in the Jan. 18 issue of the Torrance Herald, relative to the 1940 Torrance City Directory, the United States Bureau of the Census wishes to advise that the public may be assured of a complete and accurate count on all the censuses taken during the current year. Most elaborate and exhaustive means have been set up to assure this. Before any enumeration district is considered complete, investigators and other field representatives from the Census Bureau make frequent and exacting check-ups to see that the field work is completely carried out.

The Bureau of the Census has the most complete statistical machinery and organization in the entire world and its large staff of practical experts are equipped to do a thorough job. It is believed that 150 years of census taking has given the Bureau sufficient experience in specialized fact-finding to justify this position.

Newspapers and magazines in the country generally have for many decades used Census figures as dependable and established facts upon which to base editorials and newspaper stories. The Audit Bureau of Circulations uses Census figures invariably to establish saturation ratios for circulation campaigns in all parts of the country.

"Unjust, Unfair, Improper"
One large food concern recently spent $150,000 verifying accuracy of Census figures, thereupon hired 75 new road salesmen to cover new territory not previously entered by that company, and these salesmen have been constantly on the road, to the benefit of that company ever since they were hired, over a year ago.

It is therefore believed unjust on the part of any local commercial enterprise, unfair and improper to question the validity of Census Bureau figures. It is fully understood that civic bodies are interested in presenting as large figures as can be mustered when censuses are taken. However, and in fairness, it should be understood that such bodies, and some business concerns find it to their interest not to use accurate figures.

The Bureau of the Census is an impartial fact-finding agency. Its tremendous service to Government, State, County and City departments and to legitimate business is well known, not only to governing bodies, but to the average American as well.

EARL L. HOUSE,
Assistant Area Manager,
in charge of Public Relations,
Department of Commerce,
Bureau of the Census.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Herald article, referred to by House, quoted Grover Inskip, president of the Western Directory Company, as saying: "Your new city directory shows that Torrance has a population today of 8,658 men, women and children. I believe this is an accurate count and will be more than Federal census figures will report for this city because we covered every home in the 19 square miles that compose your municipal area. I don't believe Federal census takers, judging from the manner in which they operated in the past, will make the return calls in outlying areas when they are unable to get information on their first trip."

Credit Union Pays Dividend

The Enesco Employees Federal Credit Union (Employees of National Supply Co.) declared a 3 per cent dividend at their annual meeting held Tuesday in the National Supply Company cafeteria.

Officers, directors and committee members elected for the coming year were Gale Whitte, president; Ed Curran, vice-president; Grace Olson, treasurer; Chris Bartsch, assistant treasurer and clerk; Eli Kuhns, H. M. Davidson and J. A. Graham, directors. Members of the Credit committee are Tom McGuire, Harry Bodley and Clarence Smothers. The Supervisory committee is composed of Scott R. Ludlow, J. A. Obole and L. S. Jacobson.

Vicar's Father Speaks Sunday at Church Service

Rev. Thomas C. Marshall, father of Rev. Thomas R. Marshall, vicar of St. Andrew's Episcopal church, will be guest speaker at the service Sunday morning. Rev. Marshall is known to many local residents as chaplain of the Good Samaritan hospital in Los Angeles. The services will be conducted by the vicar.

Penalties are Told
"Fortunately, in the 150 years of census taking, the records show that it has rarely been necessary to resort to compulsion. Penalties provided for non-compliance with the 1940 Decennial Census were set by Congressional enactment of 1929. Similar penalties have been provided by Census law for more than 100 years.

"Penalties applicable to the public range from $100 fines or 60 days imprisonment for refusal to answer up to $500 fines or one year imprisonment for giving intentionally incorrect information.

"Proprietors of hotels, apartments, boarding houses and similar enterprises who refuse to cooperate with the enumerator in registering guests are subject to a fine of $500. Individuals or committees who conspire to cause an inaccurate count of a community are subject to a fine of $1,000 or imprisonment of one year or both.

Confidential Data
"Compulsory submission of reports by business firms dates from 1880. Penalties for refusal range from $500 or 60 days imprisonment or both up to as high as $10,000 fines or one year imprisonment for misrepresentation.

"A census enumerator who refuses or neglects to do his official duty is subject to a fine of $500. If he reveals to an outsider any information he has collected on his official duties, he is subject to a $1,000 fine or two years imprisonment or both. If he knowingly reports false information to the Bureau of the Census, he is subject to a fine of $2,000 or imprisonment for five years or both," Austin's statement concluded.

Business Census Forms May Be Sent to L. A.

Federal Business Census forms for this city are being carefully checked by Earl L. House of Los Angeles, assistant area manager in charge of public relations for this district, who reports that all mail forms, when completely filled in, must be mailed to the district office in Los Angeles at 1206 Santee street, and not to the national capital in Washington or to the area office in Watts.

According to House, opening of the Watts office which will mark the first year the Federal government has used area offices for this work, has not been scheduled until sometime in March. Therefore, returns mailed to any other address but to the Los Angeles office will merely have to be returned, thereby retarding progress and completion of the business census.

A field enumerator, J. A. Evans and not J. A. Allen as incorrectly reported in last week's Herald, is now working in Torrance to obtain accurate information for this year's business census which is a Federal project, and must be taken every ten years. Information thus obtained is of a confidential nature. Active cooperation of the merchants is appreciated in this regard, House said.

Fire Chief J. E. McMaster attended sessions of the annual convention of California Fire Chiefs, southern division, at San Diego over the week-end.
