Zamperini Will Re-Enter U.S.C.

mentors have released a large amount of speculation that Zamperini "was through with U.S.C." and would enter the ranks of professional runners. All this is now completely discounted in view of the Torrance flash's letter to his parents.

He had been urged to compete in a special four-man mile relay with Fenske, Glenn Cunningham and Gene Venzke in Madison Square Garden March 2 and enter the Knights of Columbus meet in New York March 9. During his eastern invasion, Zamperini has run the indoor mile in 4m. 7.9c. This excellent time is only five-tenths of a second more than Fenske's best mark this season.

INTEND TO WED

Clarence W. Chambers, 24, of 218 East 109th street, Los Angeles, and Sarah E. A. Hansen, 23, of 912 1/2 Anapola avenue, Torrance.

He rebuilds them just like new!

RHYMES RULES
1. Write a four-line rhyme based on some classified advertisement which appears on the regular classified pages of The Herald and News. Your verse must concern some particular ad—not classified ads in general. (Be sure to see rule No. 5.)
2. Write on but one side of a clipped copy of the advertisement above the rhyme.
3. Date each rhyme you send in.
4. Print your name and address in full and mail your verses to the "Classified Ad Rhymes Contest Editor," Herald-News Office, Torrance, Calif.
5. You may write more than one rhyme at a time (as many as there are ads if you wish) but each one must be on a separate sheet of paper and on a different ad each time. You may write each week on the same ad, if you desire.

All simple rules to be guided by aren't they? Please be careful and observe them thoroughly in order that an otherwise worthy poem is not discarded. If you don't win the first time, you may the next. Read each week's criticisms for guidance.
Now let's get started. Turn to the next to the last page in this paper and select any or all of the classified ads for your study. Get everyone in the family to help you. Or, as many of you in each family who feel they can write are welcome to enter the contest. Only Herald-News employees and relatives are barred from competition.
