New OPA Rules Announced on Automobile Sales

New automobile purchase cer-tificates will not be granted hereafter to applicants who since January 1 of this year have disposed of cars adequate for their means, the OPA announced.

their means, the OPA announced.
The same amendment also makes a number of other technical revisions, as follows:

1. Unrestricted sale of new cars by inductees into the armed forces of the United States will be permitted hereafter only when it becomes certain that the sciler actually will enter the service.

MRS. BETH PAIGE
MNS. BETH PAIGE
HONORED AT DINNER
A surprise-party and dinner
was given last—week by Mrs.
John H. King of Carson st., for her mother, Mrs. Beth Paige.
Lovely autumn flowers and foliage formed the centerpiece and place cards at the dinnertable
where covers were laid for eight.
Friends of the "McKenzie Clan" from another city, whom the honoree had not seen for some time, were also there to surprise her.

SALVAGE HUNT YIELDS RARE COPY OF OLD PAPER

Diamond, Onyx Wedding Gift Loss Discovered

Not until this week did Mrs.
K. V. Hinckley, well-known Lomitan, miss her diamond and black onyx laveliere which was her husband's wedding gift to her 25 years ago. She last saw the necklace when she had with her on a shopping trip to Torrance on April 10.

"I am desolate because of the loss of this treasured gift," she said, "Perhaps its intrinsic worth is not comparable to other diamond necklaces but to me it has a value beyond price and I will gladly pay a substantial reward for its re-times."

turns."

Mrs. Hinckley believes she lost the laveliere in or near a Torrance jewelry shop. Its finder will be liberally rewarded if he or she returns it to Hinckley's Market, 241st and Narbonne ave., in Lomita.

Children's Efforts To Rescue Mother From Home Fire Fail

Mrs. Mary K. Hood, 36, wife of Floyd Hood, Sr., a National Supply plant worker, was burned to death Thesday at her home at 17134 South Western ave., Gardena, in spite of fraulte efforts of her son and daughter to rescue her from their blazing home.

When Mrs. Eliza May Sidebotham of 26125 Narbonne ave., started on a hunt for the salvage drive, she found a yellowed slip of paper, dated March 30, 1919. It was the second issue of The Lomita News Letter, this community's first newspaper and still going strong as The Lomita

News.
The paper was published by C. P. Roberts as a sideline to the Roberts Grocery on Narbonne near 245th st., and at first was intended to be only a shopping dodger. But the paper became so popular that Roberts was obliged to expand it into a regular weekly newspaper.
The second issue of 1500 copies offered a prize of $100 in cash to anyone who would consolidate the four water companies. Well, it hasn't been done yet.

The paper was a four-column one page sheet and five of its eight columns were advertising. Roberts says about the first issue: "It was not claimed to be a newspaper but some refuse to have it any other way."

newspaper out some retuse to have it any other way."

There were drives in those days and Mrs. Sidebotham, Mrs. Jordan and Mrs. Stone were gathering old clothes for the Red Cross to be used in relief work over-seas.

J. Tonkins and family were moving into their new home recently purchased from F. H. Newkirk on Beacon and Eshleman sts. The Tonkins were from San Pedro and the Newkirk family moved to Taft. (Mrs. Newkirk was a recent visitor of Mrs. Minnie Hunter.)

Gardena police voiced the belief today that Mrs. Hood had been smoking in bed, and that bed clothing became ignited after she fell asleep. The fire spread thru her befroom, in the downstairs portion of the two-story structure.

The flannes awakened her son, if Floyd John Hood, 12, who ran to a neighbor, owner of the home, who made unavailing efforts to rescue the woman. A daughter, Joanne Hood, was staying, at the neighbors, and also tried to rescue her mother. Flames had enveloped the bed room, however, barring their approach.
