

Local Vote Total Still Less Than Two Years Ago

Registration of voters in Torrance for the Nov. 3 election reached 4,978 this week, it was announced by Registrar of Voters Michael J. Donoghue. The total for the last general election two years ago was 5,363. Grand total for the county was 1,630,213, which was some 90,000 less than two years ago.

Decrease in registration was due to the number of men drafted into military service, and to those who have accepted employment in war plants in other cities, it was believed. Registration of war workers who have moved into this county has not been sufficient to offset this loss of residents, because many of the newer workers prefer to maintain their residence in their home state.

Local registration for the November election is divided as follows:

Democrats 3,424, Republicans 1,300, Socialists 2, Prohibitionists 5, Progressive 10, Communist 1, Townsend 12, and decline to state 224.

Rotary to Hear Chast Aid Talk

Leonard Dahlquist, a representative of the Los Angeles Community Chest, will speak on "We Must Take Care of Our Own at Home During Wartime" at tonight's dinner meeting of the Torrance Rotary club. He will be presented by Hillman Lee.

The club will celebrate its 18th anniversary Nov. 6 and to mark the occasion, directors have planned a dinner-party for Nov. 5 to honor all past presidents, former members, present Rotarians and their wives.

Many principal export markets for Argentina grains have been closed by the war and stocks of wheat early this year totaled between 12 and 13 million bushels.

tion of last March when enemy planes were believed to be over the Southland, Dr. L. M. Hurt explained, "There was considerable commotion among dairy cows in the Torrance area. On one farm, several animals were injured by flying shrapnel and fell particles." Control of flights of pigeons capable of carrying messages is another responsibility of the county livestock department for the duration of the war. Right now there is being considered a plan to control strays and to

S. C. Not Alone With 'Unusual Weather' Stories

Other places than Southern California have "unusual weather," Mrs. Emma L. Horton, former resident who is now located at Stockport, Iowa, learned recently when she visited relatives at Viroqua, Wis., and encountered the first September snowstorm there in 40 years.

She wrote friends that the flowers and the record tobacco crop were nipped by the unseasonal cold snap and "since the frost the trees are turning into the most gorgeous colors you ever saw. Some look like trees of gold when the sun shines on them."

People of the Wisconsin are "very patriotic—everybody who is able is working," Mrs. Horton wrote. She said she expects to return home to Torrance in the near future.

Cosmetic Stockings May Be Out for Duration

Cosmetic stockings that can't run or snag may be a good idea but the vast majority of women aren't going to have a chance to test them out, according to Miss Jean Warren, specialist in home management in the University of California Agricultural Extension Service.

The War Production Board has blasted feminine hopes of using cosmetic legwear when their present store of stockings runs out, says Miss Warren. Recent WPB restrictions have greatly reduced the amount of cosmetic materials that will be available for leg makeup. The reason is that these painted-on stockings use materials needed for the war.

Best bets in stockings for the duration will be rayon and cotton, according to Miss Warren. Prices of pure nylon stockings have doubled during the last year and few of them are being made, she points out.
