NUMBER 6 OF A SERIES

How you can make the most out of your ration of MEATS!

After building our menus around meats all these years, the wartime meat scarcity has thrown a lot of us into a dither.

But be of good cheer. We can still expect to have our meat rations, and you may be surprised at your cunning in stretching them out, and at the gastronomic windings you can concoct from the more plentiful, cheaper cuts and so-called "variety" meats.

Nutritionally speaking, meat happens to be one of the best sources of "complete" protein, and that's the stuff that builds and repairs muscles. But there are other sources—milk and milk products, eggs, fish and poultry, for example. And we still have up our sleeves the "incomplete" protein foods such as dried peas, beans and lentils, nuts, cereals, breads and pastes like macaroni. We can use all these to extend our meat-protein larder—it's just going to take a bit of juggling in your gas kitchen.

A bright little touch of ingenuity, and you can make a single pork shoulder do its ration-thrifty stint for three such sprightly meals as (1) roast stuffed with sauerkraut (2) pork pie (3) diced pork and apple salad. Or tenderize a beef heart (brown, cover and steam-cook on top burner or in gas range oven) and serve (1) stuffed with a savory bread dressing (2) cubed with horseradish sauce in a noodle ring (3) and curried with rice.

And now, if you bump into wartime cookery problems where you need some help, you are invited to direct your inquiry to the Home Service Department of your Gas Company.

Local Boy Seeks Ensign's Rating In Coast Guard

"Bound for the New London, Conn. academy, where he will take the prescribed course for Coast Guard officers, Harvey Duncan, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Duncan, Jr., of 2019 231st st., hopes to become a commissioned ensign.

Duncan's record during his 18 months in the Coast Guard reflects considerable credit on him. He was rated as a first-class electrician's mate in that short period of service. Duncan was graduated with the winter class of 1938 from Torrance high school.

Jimmy Wakely And Band Pleasing Crowds at Zucca's

Versatility is the keynote of the Rough Riders band headed by Jimmy Wakely, Universal's singing cowboy star, which plays each Saturday and Sunday night at Zucca's Barn Dance at Hermosa Beach.

On a majority of the band numbers the Rough Riders play regular orchestration, much in the style popularized by the Bob Wills band, of which Wakely has three former members. This, he contends, makes the band more versatile, playing popular dance tunes as well as western numbers.

In addition to dance numbers, the Wakely group offers grand entertainment. Jimmy sings many of his recording numbers and features the "fiddliness" of Tex Anderson, left-handed fiddler of the National Barn Dance.

Townsend Club Notes

By BETH PAIGE

We were thrilled last Sunday to hear once more Judge Herbert L. Sweet at the Townsend 17th district headquarters. He gave a fine address on the work of the legislature. In the audience were James Sellers, president, of our club, Mrs. Selena Mr. and Mrs. George Geiger, old time officers from San Pedro; Mrs. Newell, Mrs. Davis and others. A group of the Torrance people after the lecture went in to Los Angeles for dinner and later attended church services.

Tomorrow evening Club No. 1 holds its social beginning at 7:30 o'clock, with games, prizes, refreshments and dancing. All are cordially welcome.

Well, Anyway, We May Have Turkey Come Thanksgiving

April might seem like an odd time to start thinking of Thanksgiving to Mrs. America, unless we remember that Christmas always brings the bathing suit salesman to call on the retail trade, and Fourth of July is about the last date that year-end holiday orders are sought by the manufacturers.

Turkey raisers of the United States are already planning on filling the needs of Mrs. America this coming fall, with latest reports indicating the heaviest production ever seen in this

Housewives Urged To Shop 10 to 2

"Ten to two" doesn't refer to the hours your doctor keeps but to the time period recommended by the Office of Defense Transportation for Mrs. America's shopping tours. In this way the ODT said housewives will leave room for essential workers who must travel during peak-load periods.

Posthumus Award Sent Jerry Angelich's Sister

The Order of the Purple Heart has been posthumously conferred upon Jerry Angelich, Lomita's first war casualty, according to Mrs. Miltza Christopher of Wilmington, sister of the young Narbonne graduate who was killed at Pearl Harbor.

Angelich was a member of the Army Air Corps, having enlisted in August, 1941.

The young man was a star athlete at Narbonne high school, having distinguished himself particularly in baseball.

After his graduation in 1934 he played professional ball for a time with the Sacramento club of the Pacific Coast league and later was employed by the Griffith Co. in an engineering capacity.

The Purple Heart medal has been received, and in a letter from the War Department, Mrs. Christopherson was advised that a certificate is also being sent to her as the next of kin.

Mrs. O'Toole Driving Mail Route In City

Examination has been called for rural carriers at the Torrance postoffice, and pending the examination for which the date has not been set, Mrs. Margaret O'Toole is serving a 28 1/2-mile rural route. This extends east to Normandie, taking in considerable of the Sheestrung strip, and some of the west part of Torrance, where there is no city carrier service.

Mrs. O'Toole is a temporary clerk of the office and according to Earl Conner, postmaster, likes the rural carrier job well enough that she may seek a permanent appointment.

Rural carriers' salaries are based on mileage, plus an additional allowance for car expense, being required to furnish their own transportation. They constitute a traveling postoffice as they are authorized to sell stamp, money orders, cards and envelopes, and to accept registered mail and parcel post. They deliver anything from jewels to fresh eggs and groceries.

Mrs. O'Toole has had considerable experience in the delivery business, having helped her husband, Jimmie O'Toole, on his milk routes. Besides handling a rural route, she keeps up her home, is active in veteran organizations and is a member of the Torrance Business and Professional Women's club.

Gen. Washington's Medal of Honor

"The road to glory in a patriot army and a free country is open to all," declared General Washington in his order of the day August 7, 1782, instituting the first American badge for military merit.

His act was in recognition of "bravery, fidelity and good conduct" among the non-commissioned officers and private soldiers in the Continental Army. Thus was established the Order of the Purple Heart.

Individual valor has always been a distinguishing trait of the American soldier. In the lapse of more than a century and a half between Bunker Hill, Valley Forge and Stony Point to Pearl Harbor, Batan and the Macassar Straits the roster of those men who have traveled the road to glory furnishes a brilliant record of patriotism and sacrifice.

In the first dark hours of the present war their heroic deeds have thrilled their countrymen and illumined the way to ultimate victory—inspiring hope of a triumph not only for the United Nations but for downtrodden peoples throughout the world.

No gold, silver or bronze bled from the breasts of the heroes Washington intended to honor. Read his general order:

"The General ever desirous to cherish virtuous ambition in his soldiers, as well as to foster and encourage every species of military merit, directs that when any singularly meritorious action is performed, the author of it shall be permitted to wear on his facings over the left breast the figure of a heart in purple cloth, or silk, edged with narrow lace, or binding. Not only instances of extraordinary gallantry, but also of extraordinary fidelity and essential service in any way shall meet with due reward. . . . The road to glory in a patriot army and a free country shall be open to all."

RECEIVE AWARD—Grace Bell, president of Narbonne Scholarship Society, and Bobby Riggs, student body president, prepare to raise school's "Minute Man" flag at ceremony last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bishop and baby were Sunday guests of Miss Ann Musser of Glendale.

The world's first law to safeguard the health of factory workers was passed in Great Britain in 1802.

Plenty of Canning Supplies Assured

Food rationing is inspiring more housewives to thoughts of canning fruits and vegetables than in many years, and to those who are planning to "put up" Victory garden products, here's a word of cheer from the War Production Board.

The WPB has been expecting a record-breaking home canning season and so has taken action to see that there are plenty of glass jars, rubber rings and covers for sealing the jars.

Zinc lids are banned, however, blouses, sport dresses and sweaters, Messrs. Harding and Olenky state.
