Union Evangelical Services Open With Overflow at Tent Meetings

Union evangelistic services opened last Sunday night in the large tent erected at Cabrillo and Sartori ayes. An overflow attendance marked the first service with many standing. Seven local churches are sponsoring the union service which will continue for ten days, until Sept. 26. There will be no Saturday night services.

Rev. Don H. Householder, co-pastor of the Trinity Methodist church of Los Angeles, is the guest evangelist. His messages are stirring and thought-provoking. With the very able leadership of Merle Hancock, who ranks as one of the most able leaders of congregational and group singing in the west, music has taken a very prominent place in the services. In addition to the use of two pianos, there is an orchestra and vibraharp to enhance the musical program.

The cooperating churches extend a cordial welcome to persons of all churches as well as to the entire community to share in these great services.

The services begin at 7:30 each evening. Daily prayer services are being held in the churches and homes in behalf of the meetings.

Army Flier Talks To Workers at Doak Aircraft Plant

back to our base after hurting one of the Zeros into the sea."

While on his second mission with a crew of seven other men another load of bombs was dropped on enemy targets. But the swarm of Zeros coming in from all directions damaged their ship which managed to get away but was forced down near an island on the New Britain coast. Two of the crew were trapped when the ship went down.

Naves came out in their canoes and rescued the others. They appeared friendly and the Americans were cared for in the village for six weeks when suspicion arose that some of the natives planned to send word to the Japs where they were. It was then decided on advice of friendly islanders to strike into the interior. All became ill with malaria and were resigned to the conclusion that they were doomed to die. Two of the number struck out in hope of finding relief and rescue. These two never came back and it was learned later that they had been captured by the Japs. They were Lieutenants Maseck and King.

The surviving members finally found other friendly natives who gave assistance. Word came that an Australian who came there under much the same circumstances as Lieut. Wallace and his men, was reported camped near the coast. Although weak and fatigued through 10 months existence on the island, the lieutenant and his associates mustered their last ounce of strength for the long tortuous trek. Natives led the way and they reached their goal in a state of collapse.

During all of the previous 10 months of almost indescribable hardships, Lieut. Wallace and his companions sighted only one Allied plane. They had seen numerous enemy craft almost daily. But at the camp of the Australian they used a looking glass in the sun to send flashes that attracted an Allied reconnaissance plane which returned and dropped food. A few days later rescue ships came and took them away to safety and a period in a hospital.

In closing his talk the young officer praised the group of employees at the Doak plant for what they have done and are now doing, at the same time urging them on to greater effort. "Pitch in and do your best. If we have sufficient planes the boys that use them will finish the job of beating the Japs out of this war. They can use every bit of equipment you can send them," he said.

Roar of Applause
This remark brought a roar of applause from his listeners who had dropped their tools to assemble in the new drop-hammer building to hear him speak.

The meeting was called to order by Nelson A. Grace, vice-president and shop superintendent, who introduced Capt. Gordon A. Engberg, Army; H. McGee, Army public relations officer, who introduced Lieut. Wallace; Robert Fleeman, supervisor of the drop-hammer department, who also heard. He thanked Lieut. Wallace for the narration of his thrilling experiences and asserted that the Doak Aircraft Co. and its employees will do their part in keeping planes running steadily off the production lines while there is need for them on the fighting fronts.

L. E. Belger, in charge of plant production in the Inglewood area for the Army, was another speaker.

As of June 8, 1942, Lieut. Wallace was listed as missing by the War Department. April 1, 1943, he was rescued, much to the gratification of his parents in Los Angeles and numerous buddies. Only three of the original bomber crew returned to safety.

Girls Sending 3,241 Smokes

Torrance Girl Scouts, under direction of Mrs. Gladys Pietzschke who conducted the Cigarette Tag Day campaign for Local Post 170, American Legion, last Saturday, reported sales aggregating $165.56, according to Jack Hallanger, Post commander. "This means," declared Hallanger, "funds were obtained sufficient to purchase 3241 pack-ages of 'smokes' which are to be forwarded to men in the armed services."

Hallanger said the results achieved exceeded his expectations and credit for this fine record goes to the untiring efforts of the group of girls who participated in the campaign.

Special cash prizes were awarded by Torrance Post to five girls who reported in with the largest volume of sales. They were: Jean McWaid, first; Teala Bellini, second; Vivian Oliver, third; Peggy Crook, fourth; and Barbara Ann Spangler, fifth.

It is the intention of the Torrance Legion Post to have the 3241 packets of cigarettes distributed equally among units of the armed services where there are not canteens in operation. Each packet is to bear a tag advising the name of the Legion Post by which they were dispatched, and in each case will be included 100 sheets of letter-sized paper. Undoubtedly, asserted Mr. Hallanger, a large number of these boys will express their gratification by responding with numerous letters.

Custodian at Local Schools Seriously Hurt

Elmer Prime, custodian of the Torrance Elementary schools, was the victim of an accident last Friday evening at the intersection of Avalon and Carson avenues, which will keep him in a hospital indefinitely.

En route to Torrance accompanied by Mrs. Dickinson, Mrs. Prime's sister, the vehicle in which he was riding was struck by another containing a group of Mexicans.

He is reported to have suffered several fractured vertebrae and a serious skull injury. He was rushed to the General hospital and later removed the Queen of the Angeles hospital in Los Angeles where his condition was reported favorable, according to a statement made to Mrs. Prime.

Mr. Prime has been in the employ of the L.A. city school district for a good many years. Mrs. Prime has been prominent in Torrance P. T. A. activities for a number of years. Mrs. Dickinson sustained painful, but not serious injuries, it was said.

With one custodian short, the accident to Mr. Prime has left a serious handicap to the elementary school system, Supt. Strand asserts.

Red Cross First Aid Picture at Civic Auditorium
The Red Cross first-aid training film, "Before the Doctor Comes," will be shown in the Civic Auditorium, corner of El Prado and Cravens, at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 22, to which the public is invited, according to Casper Clemmer, first-aid chairman of the Torrance branch of the American Red Cross.

Clemmer explains that this film shows graphically how to treat accidents which may happen "to you or to any member of your family at any time." The Red Cross first aid is designed by leading medical men to assist in saving lives and prevent unnecessary suffering by applying, before the doctor comes, efficient first-aid methods.

Because it is not always possible to obtain the immediate services of a physician, the Red Cross conducts classes in first aid and shows films to the public depicting first aid methods in operation. Particularly now, in wartime, when accidents can delay vital production, everyone should know first aid!

NEW POLICE OFFICER
Appointment of Harold M. Fram as an emergency police officer by Chief of Police Stroh at a salary of $160 per month, was confirmed by the city council Tuesday evening.
