

Shipfitter Gives Blood to Save Life of Young Torrance Mother

Because he happened to have the right type of blood, and is the right type of fellow, Ray Renfro, an L.A. Ship shipfitter, saved a life the other day.

And it was an exceptionally worth-while life to save—a mother with a new-born baby—Mrs. Leroy Snow, wife of a well-known shipfitter, residing at 2305-C Torrance Blvd.

The story, as it has just been revealed, is as follows:

On a recent afternoon, Mrs. Snow prematurely gave birth to a baby boy, her first born, at the San Pedro hospital. Her condition was such that the attending physician decided that a blood transfusion would have to be made within an hour to save her life.

It was already known that Mrs. Snow's blood was "O" type, but that was none of that to be had at the hospital, so an S.O.S. went out. But as a quick telephonic canvass brought no result, Snow himself decided upon action of his own, for, needless to say, he was desperate.

So he phoned the L.A. Ship employee Welfare department and got Bill Kane, assistant superintendent.

Kane long has been working with Supt. C. W. Banks and others on a plan to have all blood of L.A. Ship donors typed so that such a call as Snow's might be instantly met.

Winter Victory Garden Timely Suggestions

Vacant lots and yards have produced a great deal of corn and beans and potatoes. But what looked so inviting a short time ago is now mostly brown and dead. The enthusiasm which resulted in so many spring gardens may also be spent.

"But September is second springtime in Southern California," reminds Harry H. Stone, high school "aggy" teacher. "The evening weather in fall may be just as stimulating as March. And if we are going to carry on with our production contribution to health and freedom, now is the time to act again."

"We have learned lessons from our spring gardens. We may have had more carrots or turnips than our families could use, and I know there was too much summer squash. Things grow rapidly with warm weather and long hours of sunshine. Conditions will be different from now on, though days will be cooler, nights will be longer, growth will be slower. Most root crops planted now will be good to use until next April; and if gardens are postponed until rain softens the ground there will be long months of little fresh food."

"Carrots, beets, turnips, parsnips, head lettuce, peas, thrive in our cool season with chard and spinach, if planted in early fall."

Two Employment Office Chiefs Get Promotions

(Continued from Page 1-A) he has been with the Inglewood office, where he was assistant manager and supervisor of employment stabilization.

But "Brad's" work in the man power program is by no means the only contribution the Bradleys are making to the war effort. Although they have a family "manpower shortage"—they have six daughters, but only one son—they take justifiable pride in the fact that their son, Kenneth, is working at Consolidated Aircraft and of their five sons-in-law and one son-in-law-to-be, three are also working in war plants and the other three are serving their country in the uniform of the United States Army.

Bradley has been getting acquainted in the 60-square-mile area served by the Torrance office, and Pupolis has been introducing him to representatives of Torrance industry and workers, as well as civic leaders, before leaving for his new assignment.

Work on the vast new refinery addition will start about next Building of a New Civilization."

June, C. S. Griffin, acting superintendent of the company's building department said in a letter asking that Thomas' trip be authorized. Three months will be required to go over the plans.
