State Guard Officers End Training Course

Brig. Gen. Ray W. Hays, state adjutant general, today announced that 73 officers of the California State Guard have successfully completed a training course at Boise Barracks, Idaho, and are now "eminently qualified to instruct the latest doctrines and tactics as pertaining to the mission of his State Guard."

ARMY WANTS DEERSKINS

The Army needs deerskins and it is no longer illegal in California to sell or donate them for manufacturing items needed on the military fronts. Opening of the deer season in northern California on Sept. 16 already has brought an estimated 1000 deerskins into the Southern California area and more are expected as Utah, Arizona, and Nevada areas are opened to hunters in October, according to the State Fish and Game Commission.

GOOD DEER HUNTING

Over 700 more deer were taken during the first two weeks of the hunting season than during the same period last year. J. S. Hunter, chief of the bureau of game conservation of the State Division of Fish and Game, announced today. Counties in the lead so far are Modoc, reporting 1082 deer taken; Tulare, 843, and Lassen, 791, Hunter reported.

Townsend Club No 1

We were highly pleased Friday evening to receive the three new residents of Torrance, coming to us from Chicago club No. 69, as members of club No. 1. They are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wheeler and their son, Frederick. A cordial welcome was extended to them. Plans for a Halloween dance Oct. 29 are progressing. The club regrets to see Mrs. Rotna Moran have to return to her home in Virginia before this affair takes place. The prize from the Redondo contest was passed around and duly admired by all attending the club's last meeting.

DEMOUNTABLE HOUSES

Lyman Lantz, assistant state director of agriculture, today claimed strong farmer support for a plan for obtaining demountable war housing units for farm areas after the war. Lantz hopes to organize farmers to apply for first options on the units either individually or through financial cooperatives set up for the purpose.

FIRST SHASTA POWER

The first power to be produced from the Central Valley's project at Shasta dam will be sold to the Pacific Gas & Electric Co., according to official announcement. The power company contracts to pay a minimum annual fee of $2,775,000 for delivery of 150,000 kilowatts over a 97-mile transmission line.

Daniels Expects More Work for Rationing Staff

Frank Daniels, chief clerk of the local rationing board, anticipates that a lot more work will be piled onto members of his staff by reason of the order cutting gasoline allowances from four to three gallons on each coupon. He sees where some holders of supplemental rationing coupons are going to put up a howl—or at least make demands for more coupons to transport them to and from work. This will mean additional tasks and need for volunteer office helpers. Paul Barksdale d'Orr, regional director of O.P.A. for this area, has already indicated that workers in war industries just can't be let down at this stage or those where no other means of transportation is available in going to and from place of employment.

In one way, however, all motorists will be hit alike. There will be a scarcity of high octane, or premium gas. Some service stations finding their supply very much reduced are going as far as they can with half and half, that is, half high octane and the other half straight standard quality of gasoline. This is done only when the customer requests such a combination, however.

Other drivers who have been using premium gas probably will switch to the cheaper grades entirely, although it may reduce the mileage under the rationing setup another half gallon per coupon. Some say it won't make a particle of difference insofar as mileage is concerned.

YOUR VERSATILE GAS RANGE

roasts tastier, juicier meats— and saves time and gas besides!

"Conservation" is a patriotic wartime duty where we can all lend a hand—

And "SAVING" is where your modern gas range shines—not only in saving time and fuel, but in saving flavor, food and food-values!

So take advantage of the modern cookery methods that the "tailored" heat of your gas range makes possible.

When roasting meats, for example, use the low temperature method. You'll find a saving in that many of the low point, lower-cost cuts are far more tender, delicious and healthful this way. It reduces shrinkage as much as 20 per cent.

Gas does a vital wartime job—use it wisely!

How saving GAS conserves FUEL OIL for the Navy!

The gas you save in your home allows essential War Industries to use more gas for fuel instead of having to use up limited reserves of fuel oil! In this way, you help to conserve the fuel oil that our Navy MUST have to win the war in the Pacific.

Don't think that the amount of gas you can save is too small to count! Practically everybody in Southern California uses gas, so it's what you save—multiplied by similar savings in over 1,000,000 other patriotic homes—that spells the bad news for Tojo. Yes, this time "The Navy Needs You"—to help conserve fighting fuel.
