

Student-Built Planes Shown at Public Library

Model airplanes built accurately to scale and painted a uniform dull black are built by students for use in the United States Navy training program. Examples of these models are on display at the Torrance branch of the Los Angeles county public library.

In February, 1942, Secretary of Navy Knox called upon students in the schools to build 500,000 scale model airplanes. The call was later increased for an additional 200,000 models, for they are now used by all branches of our armed forces in gunnery practice, identification of friendly and enemy planes and the study of "Cones of fire." The Los Angeles city schools whose models are on display have shipped over 5000 models to the United States Army and Navy.

The students furnish the materials and the government has furnished specifications and plans. Every Saturday morning a group of 50 boys meet at the Los Angeles Orthopaedic hospital. Some are on crutches, some walk with braces and a few arrive in wheel chairs—all eager to build models for the Navy.

Models are much more satisfactory than pictures in the lessons on plane identification for they can be studied at any angle. The men also learn the position of the guns or the "cones of fire" on all the planes.

Only 10 of the 80 different models are on display but they give a picture of how Torrance high school students are working on a unique war contribution.

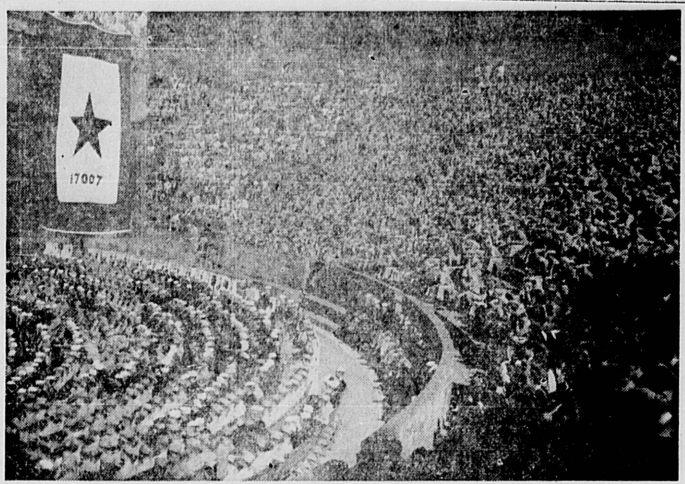

Two grocers in the same town and on the same street. One succeeds and the other is closed by the sheriff. Two farmers on adjoining farms. One fails and the other prospers. The difference is not that of opportunity, but is the human element, and the know-how of the game.

Overcoming a four-run lead by scoring five runs in the last of the ninth, the Northrop R. C. defeated the St. Mary's A. C. 11 to 10 at the Torrance ball park this last Sunday.

In the last of the ninth, Bud Hicks singled, Blooper Kubiak also singled. John Cissmerro and Jumbo Niles both walked, forcing in the first run and left the bases full of Norcrafters. P. B. Baxter, the next batter, then hit a long fly to center, scoring Kubiak after the catch. Bob Etchandy then singled to right, filling the bases again. Lou Kubiak hit a Texas leaguer to center, scoring Niles with the tying run. John Lan Franco then beat out a hit to the pitcher, filling them again. With the count of three and two on Babe Burelle, the Babe stepped into the next pitch for a line single to center, scoring Etchandy with the winning run.

Jumbo Niles again did the pitching for the Northrop R. C. with John Lan Franco doing the catching.

For St. Mary's A.C., the Loyola ace, Joe Kainich, did the hurling with Ed Workman catching. Jack Dragovitch, manager and right fielder for St. Mary's, was the big gun for his club, getting three bingles.

L. A. Engineer Fears Serious Flood Danger

Flood conditions over highways crossing Bixby Slough will be more serious than ever when the rainy season arrives again, is the view of Lloyd Aldrich, city engineer, of Los Angeles.

He bases this conclusion on the recent cancellation of the city's permit to use the Union Oil Co.'s drainage system which has been available to the city of Los Angeles since 1938 under a limited permit granted by the company.

Now the Board of Public Works has forwarded a request to the city council that it grant Engineer Aldrich authority to negotiate with the federal government for an allocation of $140,000 for expenditure in construction of relief drains to carry excess water from the slough into the harbor.

Aldrich said he anticipated that the government would be willing to provide funds for the purpose under the Lanham act in view of the need for unimpaired use of the highways for transportation of workers in shipyards and other vital war plants in the harbor district.

The highways most affected, he said, are Anaheim st., Vermont ave., Sepulveda blvd., Garvey st., Highway 101, Lomita blvd. and Figueroa st. The engineer reported that water had stood nearly 4 1/2 feet deep over sections of Vermont ave. and at such depth over others of the streets as to make them impassable for many hours or even days.
