Buyers' Market Guide Now Available

William H. Toison, chairman of the Torrance Chamber of Commerce industrial relations committee, advises that the chamber has made arrangements with the Chicago Association of Commerce to furnish copies of the new 1944 buyers' guide and industrial directory to those who plan to buy or sell in the Chicago market.

Toison added that these are days when sources of supply are a major problem and buyers' guides are very much in demand.

Any firm or individual interested in receiving a copy of the guide and directory may obtain one by merely phoning or addressing a card to the Torrance Chamber of Commerce, industrial relations committee.

Restrictions On Heating by Gas Relaxed

Good news for some Southern California Gas Company customers was contained in a directive issued on Feb. 11 by the office of war utilities, War Production Board, under which the company will now be permitted to supply gas for house heating to all homes except those having heating appliances using other fuels. The modification of Order U-7, which in general had limited the use of gas for residential space heating to installations that were in use at the time the original order became effective, makes it permissible to add to or replace existing gas heating installations with new equipment, the gas company's sales department explains. Three classes of customers, formerly prohibited from using gas heat in their homes, are benefited.

- (1) Those building new homes.
- (2) Those who have no other kind of heating equipment installed in their homes.
- (3) Those who have gas heating equipment already installed, but who were prohibited from using it under provisions of the original limitation order.

Restrictions on the delivery of gas for non-residential heating are also modified by the order. Provided that all other requirements are satisfied, a non-residential customer may now receive up to 50,000 B.t.u. of gas for heating.

The order under which the company has been operating up to this time, it is explained, went into effect in the early part of 1942. It was aimed at the conservation of natural gas for war industry uses and specified that new or added space heating installations must utilize fuel other than gas.

Columbia Employee Captive of Germans Following Bomb Raid

Staff Sgt. Warren Stephens, former Columbia Steel Company pipefitter, who was erroneously reported killed in action, is wounded and a German prisoner of war, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stephens, Antioch.

Stephens was reported missing after the first raid on Bremen in October. News of his being a prisoner of war was conveyed by the Washington provost marshal's office after the International Red Cross had sent a cable stating he is now a captive of the Germans.

After the Bremen bombing Stephens' Fortress, on which he was a top gunner, was missing. Reports of other bombers in the raid party revealed that eight men bailed out of the plane, but
