Ryan Daggett Elected Head Of Kiwanians

Ryan Daggett was elected president of Torrance Kiwanis club on Monday night, succeeded ling H. C. Barrington. Daggett, elevated from first vice-presidency, is with the Torrance Brass Co.

Ray Reed was elected first vice president, Chief of Police John Strohl, second vice president, and Howard Locke re-elected treasurer.

A new board of directors consists of Edwin B. Brown, Dave Colville, Rev. Wesley Roloff, Ray Rogers, Dean Sears, Paul Watson and C. T. Rippey. Officers will be installed at a dinner dance to be held at Palos Verdes Country club the first Monday in January.

W. R. Spinnery, assistant trust officer at Title Insurance and Trust Co., spoke on "A Second Look at Inflation" as a guest of C. T. Rippey.

"The present recession is probably cyclical in character and does not necessarily mean that the inflationary trend, which has been in progress for several years, is permanently reversed," Spinnery told the members of Kiwanis club.

Spinnery detailed specific forces which are operating, some deflationary in character and some inflationary in character, but that most of the deflationary influences are temporary, while the inflationary influences are long-term in their effect; and that following the cyclical recession, the long-term inflationary tendency will be resumed.

He expressed doubt as to whether or not any administration could remain in power under a balanced budget, drastic reduction in taxes and a program for repaying the national debt, "because," he said, "I doubt if the American people are yet ready to forego the extravagances of government, including minority pressure raids upon the Treasury, to make such a program possible."

Spinnery quoted from John T. Flynn's recently published book, "As We Go Marching," to show that European governments over a long period of time, found it impossible to balance governmental budgets, and that deficit financing led to chaos, of which totalitarian government was the final violent climax.

Navy Address Change System Put Into Effect

Under terms of a new change-of-address system, the Navy announced today, mail mix-ups caused by transfer of Navy personnel will be largely eliminated.

It is now compulsory for every sailor, Coast Guardsman and Marine to fill out a card giving his new address when he leaves an activity within the continental United States.

Thus his correspondents, magazine and newspaper publishers will be provided with the new address, and mail may be promptly directed to him. Under former procedure, if the man failed to inform his correspondents of his new address, mail dispatched to him was usually returned to the sender.

In addition, under provisions of the new plan, the man's last commanding officer and his new commander are informed of the new address. This enables the new commander to hold each man's mail pending his arrival and furnishes the commander at the man's former station with an immediate forwarding address.

Cpl. Kirkpatrick In Unit Cited For Low Casualty

Cpl. Lee Kirkpatrick, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Kirkpatrick, Box 164, Fellows, Calif., turret gunner, is a member of a Twelfth Air Force B-25 Mitchell bombardment group which has established the exceptionally low combat casualty rate of less than one-half of one percent.

Although Corporal Kirkpatrick's unit has been overseas two years and has fought in the most dangerous air battles over Tunisia, Sicily, Italy and Southern France, it has made one of the safest records of any combat group in the Mediterranean theatre of operations.

Originally, this B-25 group participated in strategic operations, concentrating on enemy shipping, airdromes and similar German targets. Recently it has become tactical, giving close support to the Allied ground troops in Italy and southern France.

Corporal Kirkpatrick arrived in this theatre 24 months ago and has been awarded the European-Middle East-African ribbon with three battle stars and the Presidential Citation.

Junior Firemen Participate In Prevention Week

"We're Fighting Too" is the slogan adopted by members of the Torrance Junior Fire Department in observance of National Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 8-14.

This organization, pioneered in the Torrance elementary schools last semester, proudly boasts of a membership of 200 fifth and sixth grade boys and girls who after ten weeks of instruction by their teachers and Fire Department personnel were responsible for the elimination of better than 400 fire hazards in Torrance.

Since the opening of school this fall, Junior Firemen have plunged into their job with renewed vigor and are planning an intensive campaign during Fire Prevention Week.

Fire Chief J. E. McMaster says, "Junior Firemen have already stressed the importance of constant vigilance against fire to hundreds of adults and have exerted a powerful influence in the reduction of common fire hazards."

The chief made an earnest appeal to all citizens, saying, "The purpose of Fire Prevention Week is to focus attention on common fire hazards and to eliminate them. This year Junior Firemen will distribute pamphlets to home owners throughout the city. The pamphlet contains important fire prevention information. Read it carefully and cooperate with the Junior Firemen who presents it to you. Let this be your personal contribution to the prevention of fire in your community. Fire during the past year caused the death of 10,000 people in the United States and a property loss of $400,000,000."

The Boy Scouts of America in cooperation with the Fire Department will distribute pamphlets to business establishments. These pamphlets list the hazards responsible for most of the fires occurring in such occupancies.

"If a Boy Scout calls at your place of business," Fire Chief McMaster requested, "please cooperate with him by reading the pamphlet he presents to you and give him your pledge that you will make every effort to prevent fire throughout the coming year. The shortage of manpower in the fire service makes it imperative that all citizens make a greater effort to eliminate the common causes of fire if we are to reduce the appalling loss of property and life that has been on the increase for seven successive years."

Capt. Roy Winters is in charge of the Junior Fire Department activity.

GEORGE SNOW... serving with the infantry, has arrived in France. He says the country is pretty bad; he'll take the States any time. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Snow of 1512 Post ave.
