Evangelistic Mission Opens At Local Church

The Evangelistic Mission, which is being held at the Central Evangelical Community church, began Sunday morning with a sermon by the evangelist, the Reverend Mr. Byron E. Chapman, of Porterville, who preached on the theme: "The Marks of a God-sent Life." The sermon emphasized the need for a Christian consecration which drives Christians to serve God regardless of personal cost or sacrifice. "A Christian is one sent of God who is an ambassador of the great good news of God's forgiving love," he said.

"The spreading of this Gospel dare not be left to human caprice and whim. Those who love God serve Him without thought of personal comfort. The man who feels he is sent of God is one who puts first things first in his life. Sorrow and trouble result when secondary things hold first place in the human heart. The Gospel admonition is to seek first the Kingdom of God," Reverend Chapman insisted. "that a God-sent Christian life was a clean life. Purity is power. The Christian church shall not rise to its God-given opportunities until the members of the church are willing to clean up their personal living in mind, body and soul."

"Mankind is the main business of God and should be the chief concern of Christians. It is the imperative duty of all Christians everywhere to translate the divine truth of God into the human experience of daily living," said the evangelist.

The Evangelistic Mission will continue through the next two weeks. Central church is located at the corner of Marcelina and Arlington, Torrance.

Pay Deductions Not Necessary For Voting Time

Employers will not be violating the wage stabilization program if they allow workers time to vote and make no deduction from their pay, it was announced today by Thomas Fair Neblett, chairman of the Tenth Regional War Labor Board.

Neblett received notification from the National War Labor Board that a resolution had been passed by that body which provides that "employers who grant their employees time off on election day in order to vote without deductions from their pay will not be considered to have granted wage or salary increases in violation of the wage stabilization program."

Pueblo Fiesta Sponsored by Aztec Club

A "Gran Jamaica" was held at Pueblo, sponsored by the Aztec club of Torrance High school Saturday.

The Aztec club was organized this year by the Mexican pupils, with the help of Principal Harold Perry and the student body president, Bert Smith.

At this fiesta were ten booths. In them were Ramiro Ordaz, who was the justice of the peace for the mock marriage booth; a pretty nurse, who pasted tape on people and charged a nickel; and many other interesting characters.

There were also some girl policemen who kept everything in order, and some lovely señoritas selling taffy apples, galling on mole, tostadas, tacos, tamales, sodas and raspadas.

A number of faculty guests was present: Harry Stone and wife; Miss Irene Mills; Miss Thomas from Fern Avenue school; Mrs. Lorraine Goodwin and her mother; Mrs. Florence Vandermast; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sauter; Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Grigsby; Mr. and Mrs. James Burchett; Miss Catherine Jennings; Miss Sara Vaubel; Miss Genevieve Norfolk, and the sponsor of the Aztec club, Leonard Green.

Gay music inspired dancers.

who swung around under the colored lights amongst the palm branches. Everybody was happy and enjoyed themselves very much. Gran Jamaica was a great success.

THE MORTUARY THAT SERVICE BUILT

The completely modern Mortuary which we have built for the people of Torrance, Lomita and Vicinity was begun, not last month, not last year, but back in 1922, when Stone & Myers first founded this organization. Nearly a quarter of a century of service has taught us what facilities bereaved families most appreciate, and increasing patronage throughout this period has enabled us to provide them—at no higher cost.
