Army Nurses Play Big Part as 97 Out of 100 Wounded are Restored

U. S. Army nurses are playing a very important role in the work that has enabled the medical department to report that 97 out of every 100 wounded men treated are restored to health. This record is the finest ever set by any army in wartime.

The Army nurse does many jobs and does them with unsurpassed skill and devotion. Many nurses work in operating rooms as surgical nurses, giving the medical officers the help so necessary for them to carry on their work. Whether they are in great hospitals or in advance surgical units close to the fighting lines, Army nurses do their work quickly and efficiently.

Other nurses work in the wards of field and evacuation hospitals, taking care of the men after they have been treated for their wounds. Here the Army nurse does more than just bedside nursing, for it is often her words and actions that help the men through the first painful days after they have been wounded.

Still other nurses carry on their fine work here in this country in base and general hospitals, finishing up the job of restoring our fighting men to health.

On great transport planes, flight nurses see that our men get the best of care. In hospital ships and trains, Army nurses give their best efforts to see that our wounded are given the finest treatment in the world.

Right now there is urgent need for registered nurses to join the Army Nurses Corps. Registered nurses under 45 years of age may apply for commission to the Surgeon General, U. S. Army, Washington 25, D. C., or at any Red Cross Procurement office.

Police, Fire Costs Show Big Increase

Payments for protection to persons and property in the city of Torrance totaled $104,231 for 1942-43, up 38 per cent from the $75,677 for 1940-41, the year before the U. S. entered the war, California Taxpayers' association stated today, making public its study of payments for protection in the 109 larger California cities. Data for the 1942-43 are the latest available on a state-wide basis. The 109 cities include all over 5,000 population at the 1940 census.

For the 109 cities studied, expenditures for protection to persons and property are up 14 per cent when the $35,702,198 total for 1942-43 is compared with the $31,199,182 total for 1940-41. All but thirteen of the 109 larger cities showed increased payments for protection. The cities where payments went down were Pasadena, Fresno, Bakersfield, Santa Rosa, Fullerton, Chico, Corona, Tulare, Coronado, Santa Clara, Porterville, Grass Valley, and Coalinga.

"Many communities have based their finances on increases in population and the tight labor market," the association said. "Flat pay increases have been granted in some places and the general practice has been to grant war-time pay bonuses."

"Unless communities are ready with postwar plans to adjust salary and wage levels, when employees who are now on war leave are taken back, increases in local expenditures may be expected."

"Parallel with plans for postwar spending must be hard-headed plans for post war saving."

Don Hitchcock In Series of Radio Broadcasts

Donald J. Hitchcock, son of City Councilman James E. Hitchcock, is participating in a series of weekly radio broadcasts being sponsored by the University Religious Conference, where he is chairman for Community Welfare.

The programs, called "Youth Demands an Answer," are heard every Sunday afternoon at 2:30 on station KFWB.

Four students from the University of California at Los Angeles, representing a cross section of backgrounds and opinions, each week present current questions which are uppermost in the minds of American youth. Last week, Stuart Ratliff, of St. John's Catholic Seminary, representing formalized religion, was the target for their questions. This week, Dr. Stewart Cole of the Bureau for Intercultural Education, will attempt the answers.

Other students participating in the program include Natalie Coles, Joe Morhaim and Marian Hargrave.

Van Dyke Is Home from Detroit Trip

Philip Van Dyke, secretary of the Longren Aircraft Co., returned recently from a business trip to Detroit, Mich., and was high in his praise of Southern California as a normal business area.

Prices of articles which sell for as low as $27.50 in California bring upwards of $75 in Detroit, he said. He spoke particularly of a piece of furniture which he had priced both here and in Detroit. Another item, a plexiglass cigarette case selling for $5 in California is bringing $26 in Detroit, he said.

More fatal firearm accidents occur in November than in any other month of the year.
