New X-Ray Shoe Fitting Device At Bernard's

Bernard Lee of Bernard's Family Shoe Store, 1319 Sartori ave., announced today the installation of a special X-ray device which determines visually the proper fitting of shoes.

Lee said, "Because everyone's foot is different in some degree, X-ray shoe fitting is the only device which man has ever created to see inside the shoe and determine the exact proper fit of a shoe. This is of particular importance to war workers who must be on their feet for long hours and to growing children. Of course, there is no charge for this service."

DRIVER TRAINING FIELD

Pennsylvania recently dedicated its new $200,000 driver training field in Pittsburgh. Reported to be the latest word in the scientific instruction of motor car operators, the field uses special instruments to test driving ability and coordination.

Return of OCD Equipment Is To Be Required

Persons residing in Torrance and who have OCD equipment in their possession, such as pump tank extinguishers, gas masks or helmets, are being asked to return them to the local property officer before they leave the city of Torrance, according to Fire Chief J. E. McMaster, who is in that capacity.

"All property issued has been signed for by the person receiving it," Chief McMaster said, "and these people are responsible for it until it is returned to the local property officer and a receipt issued for the same."

LICENSES

Angling licenses for 1945 are now on sale at all offices of the State Division of Fish and Game and sporting goods stores. Any one over the age of 16 years, except members of the armed forces, must have an angling license to fish for game fish.
