Citizens Aiding State Guard Drive For Recruits in Torrance Company

Company H, 2nd Battalion, 39th Regiment, California State Guard, is undertaking a recruiting drive, with the aid of a volunteer citizens committee to work with Captain R. L. Lewellen, commanding the company.

On the committee are Kenneth Beight, prominent local labor leader and president of the Los Angeles Industrial Council, C.I.O.; Postmaster C. Earl Conner and Mayor W. H. Tolson. Each is taking an active part in the drive, in urging men of the community not likely to be inducted immediately into the Federal forces to enlist in the State Guard for the protection of the home front in event of emergency.

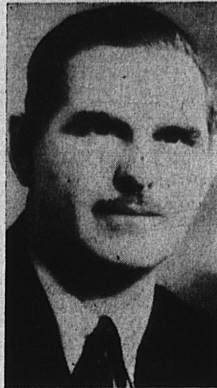

During the coming week, starting Saturday, an intensified recruiting drive will be staged. A radio broadcast has been arranged for Saturday morning at 9:30 a.m. on KMPG, on which Acting First Sergeant James R. Wilkes of Co. H, and Capt. S. C. Sault of Co. D, Wilmington, will appear.

This will be followed Saturday afternoon and evening with a display of equipment and a recruiting booth at the J. C. Penney Co. store. Included will be a truck and command car, machine guns and field equipment. In charge will be Second Lieut. Bruce R. Clements, recruiting officer, Sgt. Thomas Walker, Sgt. Guy Hight, Cpl. Carl Munger and several others.

Brig. Gen. Victor R. Hansen has asked that units of the State Guard be built up to full strength, for the protection of the various communities. Major A. Milton Fish, a battalion commander, is assisting the Torrance, Wilmington and San Pedro companies in the intensified drive during the next week.

At the regular weekly drill period of Co. H, Monday night, twelve members of the Torrance American Legion post visited the company armory at Torrance ball park, viewing the arms, uniforms and equipment furnished the State Guard by the United States Army.

They were high in their praise of the guard and at least five of them voiced their intention to enlist in the guard. "The least the soldiers of the last war can do to help in this war is to join the State Guard," one of them said.

Port Chamber Approves Plan For Fair Fleet

The SeaFair-International plan of Edsel Newton for a world-touring fleet of ships carrying a super-world's fair has been approved by the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce as a great and ambitious undertaking.

Newton, Long Beach and Torrance newsmen, was notified by E. D. Seward, executive secretary of the chamber that the board of directors had passed a resolution to that effect.

Other chambers of commerce are expected to follow.

Intense interest in the proposal has been expressed by high government officials, among them Vice Adm. Emory S. Land, chairman of the Maritime Commission, who says in a letter that he will watch the project with great interest.

"The more letters and resolutions we acquire the quicker we can take action," Newton said. "Groundwork will be laid all over the country and Southern California has an opportunity to form the nucleus of the proposed fleet by planning on one ship as soon as ships are available."

The FairFleet would carry the exposition to 14 or more principal North American ports, to all the countries of South and Central America and then, if events permit, to Europe and Asia. It is estimated from four to seven years would be required to tour the world, according to the itinerary.

Stubblefield, Noble Died on Same Vessel

A January report that Robert Noble of Torrance was killed in action in the South Pacific and a subsequent report that Miles Stubblefield of Lomita was lost, is followed by the disclosure they were on the same ammunition ship when it was blown up off Leyte.

Both men were merchant mariners. Following the January report, published in this newspaper, that Noble was a casualty, word came to his mother, Mrs. Sarah Stubblefield, 2262 W. 24th st., that the entire crew of their ship was lost.

Noble is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Kesson of 2208 Gramercy st., Torrance. Mrs. Sarah Stubblefield had been both mother and grandmother to the Lomita who was born in Texas. He began sailing out of Pacific ports longer than 10 years ago. He left a wife, Doris, and an infant daughter at Seattle where they had established a home. He worked as an able seaman most of the time but held a third mate's license. He sailed over almost half the world even before the war.

The first unit, 20 by 28 feet in size, will cost about $2500, and funds are on hand for its construction, according to Councilman C. M. Gilbert and Recreation Superintendent Dale Riley. It will contain a clubroom and restrooms.

Vandals have caused some $2,000 worth of damage in the rest rooms of the Civic Auditorium, and they are in need of plastering or tiling, it was pointed out at the council meeting.

ing, and James Brodie, custodian, was asked to secure estimates on the repair work.
