

Remove Keys From Car When Parked, Warning

"Remove your ignition keys when you leave the car!"

This admonition came from the Department of Motor Vehicles to motorists of Torrance, coupled with statistics showing that approximately 95 percent of cars reported are those from which owners forgot or neglected to remove the keys.

Most of the cars so reported are recovered in a few hours and cases recorded by the Highway Patrol Auto Theft Bureau show they are usually taken by juveniles who are tempted by seeing the keys in the ignition switch to theft for joy riding purposes.

Sometimes, however, a car is not recovered for several days. Often it has been stripped of tires or has been driven under conditions which cause mechanical trouble to develop. This, Director Gordon H. Garland points out, may prove extremely serious in these days of shortages of tires, gasoline and parts.

"Remove the keys and lock your doors," Garland warned vehicle owners. "It is a simple precaution for it removes the temptation for thieves and conserves precious transportation."

Turn In War Saving Stamps, Committee Asks

As the Seventh War Loan drive entered its fourth week, the Southern California War Finance committee urged school children and others having partially filled War Savings stamp albums to fill them without delay and convert them into war bonds.

Approximately $7,000,000 in savings stamps still are in the hands of Southern Californians, the committee estimates. Many of these stamps are believed to have been tucked away between the leaves of books, in desks, in cupboards and elsewhere, probably entirely forgotten.

School pupils throughout the area have been given the assignment of ferreting out these misplaced stamps, which are bearing no interest, and urging their owners to exchange them for bonds during the current drive. It was pointed out that every possible extra bond is needed to put Southern California's "E" Bond quota over the top.

Avery J. Gray, Southland's schools-at-war director for the Treasury Department, who is supervising this special war savings stamp "treasure hunt," based the $7,000,000 estimate on a tabulation of stamp sales and conversions just issued from Washington. The report disclosed that 12 per cent of all stamps sold still are in the hands of purchasers, the remainder having been converted into bonds.

Defense Housing Demolition or Removal Asked

Removal or demolition of all temporary defense housing within six months after V-J day and sale of all permanent federal housing units to war veterans, to prospective occupants or to private investors immediately after that date is favored by the Southern Council, California State Chamber of Commerce. Acting under the chairmanship of Asa V. Call, the council recently adopted a resolution to this effect upon the recommendation of its Southern industrial committee.

The council also voted to oppose the creation of any more housing authorities in the State and urge that the work of all those now existing, be placed under strict supervision and control of the city or county government which created them. Finally, it was urged that a sufficient number of priorities be allocated to California to provide the necessary houses for returning service men and their families, and for the ordinary civilian who has been given no consideration as far as housing is concerned during the war period.

Recommendation that the board of directors of the California State Chamber go on record as favoring the establishment of military and naval academies on the west coast similar to West Point and Annapolis, was unanimously adopted by the Southern council.

Junior Firemen Completing Work for Year

Torrance Junior Fire Department is winding up its school-term activities by checking hazards in residential and business districts by which they will earn badges of chief, battalion chief, and inspector at the end of the school year, according to Fire Chief J. E. McMaster.

Chief McMaster said that in the past, some junior firemen have been hampered in their efforts to secure advancement because people refused to sign credit point blanks acknowledging that the junior fireman persuaded them to eliminate a fire hazard, fearing that the fire department might make an investigation of the fire hazard. "Such is not the case," states the chief, "the fire department could not possibly investigate the numerous fire hazards corrected every week by junior firemen. The purpose of the signed credit point blank is to give the junior fireman credit at school for his fire prevention activity and the correction of fire hazards is the practical part of the junior fireman's education in fire prevention."

Show the Boss Your SS Card, Says Manager

With many returning servicemen entering the labor market for the first time, and with students getting jobs in the coming holidays, J. G. Bretherton, manager of the Long Beach Field Office of the Social Security Board advised all workers "to show their social security account card to every employer for whom they work."

This is essential to protect the worker's wage record, which is maintained under his name and number for his future monthly insurance benefits. Mr. Bretherton pointed out. For example, there are approximately 575,000 Smiths on the Social Security Board's records and, therefore, there are approximately 575,000 Smiths. It is important that no two Smiths have the same number.

In stressing this point of one number for a worker's lifetime, Bretherton pointed out that employers are required to report each worker's wages under both his name and number to the Government every three months. Then these wages are credited by the Social Security Board on each worker's individual ledger sheet, under both his name and number.

For these reasons, Bretherton said all workers in industry and commerce should follow this advice:

1. Show your card to every employer for whom you work.
2. Make sure that he copies both your name and number correctly so that your wages may be credited to your account.
3. Hang on to your card. Don't lose it; but if you do lose it, get a duplicate. Never get a different number. Two numbers may cause some loss of wage credits and consequently of benefits. If you have more than one number, go to the nearest office of the Social Security Board and see which one you should keep. You need only one number throughout life.

Two Residents Here Donate to War Children

Two local residents are among 169 in California who have contributed toward the support of children of United Nations in Europe through the Foster Parents' Plan for War Children, for the month of May. It is announced by Mrs. Edna Blue, plan executive chairman.

The plan operates fifty-three children's projects in France, England, Italy and Malta and is caring for Maltese, British, French, Italian, Spanish, Czech, Dutch, Polish, Belgian, Austrian, Norwegian, Hungarian, Danish and German children.

Contributors include residents of Torrance and many other California cities. Miss B. Schults of 1803 Andreo being the contributor from Torrance, and Mrs. E. Curry of Chadwick School, Rolling Hills.

A photograph and a brief history of the child is sent to the foster parent as soon as possible, and then they pay $15 per month for the support of the child.

Investigate 'Few Cents a Day' Policies, Warning

"Few Cents Per Day" Accident and Health Insurance Policies advertised largely on the radio are limited policies, according to the Better Business Bureau. That is, "limited" as to coverage. They should be carefully studied before purchase, the bureau urges. "Insist on having a specimen policy for study," states the bureau in a widely circulated warning letter.

"Most companies which offer to 'send further details' do not mail the material, but send a salesman. Many listeners have complained that salesmen have tried to talk them into buying without seeing the policy."

"If a salesman refuses to furnish a specimen policy for you to study that you may know the exact coverage which can be expected, it is suggested you proceed with caution."

Red Cross Blood Bank

We civilians here at home buy War Bonds, give money to war charities and work at the local Red Cross. Yes, these are a few of the ways that we here can back up the fighting men overseas. But, the greatest personal contribution that you and I can make to the men at the front is a pint of blood.

The Los Angeles Chapter of Red Cross Blood Donor Center needs 9000 pints of blood each week if we are to back up the fighting men overseas. Now, for the first time, it is possible to dedicate your pint of blood to someone in the armed forces. Your name and his, in your own handwriting, go right on the label which is pasted on the overseas plasma package.

The next visit of the Mobile Unit in Torrance will be June 29 from 8:40 a.m. to 12:40 p.m. at Civic Auditorium. Five hundred registrations will be needed to supply the quota, according to Mrs. O. A. Kresse, blood donor chairman. Call Torrance Branch Red Cross Blood Donor Center today and make an appointment to dedicate your blood to someone overseas. Phone 1824.

Chiropractors Plan Veterans' Rehabilitation

With veteran rehabilitation its objective, the Los Angeles Foundation for Chiropractic Research is stepping up its activities to meet ever increasing demands, it was reported yesterday by Dr. Chas. W. von Walden, president.

"Thousands of veterans from all global battle fronts now are returning," stated Dr. von Walden. "Hundreds of them need assistance that only chiropractic treatment can give to them."

"These men must be rehabilitated, to resume their normal places in society and industry, and again become useful, happy citizens."

Selection of California for this scientific work was made because the state has 25 percent of the nation's chiropractors within its borders.

"Then, too, climatic conditions are better in California, where we have beaches, deserts, and mountains, where each particular case may be assigned, to the end that the patients may receive treatment under exactly the climatic conditions necessary for complete recovery," he added.

"Use of the clinical facilities at the Los Angeles College of Chiropractic have been made available to the foundation, with other chiropractic centers to be utilized when endowments, materials and equipment warrant expansion," Dr. von Walden said.

"Wholesome cooperation by all members of the chiropractic profession has been offered in this effort to assist returning service men with prominent officials and business men serving on advisory committees," he concluded.

MUSIC AIM TOLD

Leopold Stokowski, musical director of the Hollywood Symphony orchestra, told members of the citizens advisory committee of music at City Hall, Wednesday, that "all kinds of music for all the people in greater Los Angeles is our aim for Hollywood Bowl."
