SENIORS PROVE TO BE SUPERIOR AS THEY MEET JUNIORS IN BRAWL

By DALLAS MARTIN

With bets placed and all hard feelings aside, the juniors and seniors once again participated in the traditional "Junior-Senior Brawl." This exciting occasion is greatly anticipated by all the students as it seems to put a final end to the age-old argument of which class is superior to the other.

The tug of war, which was held over a huge mud puddle, ended with a mighty splash as the hapless juniors kicked and spluttered around in the puddle, but not for long. In no time at all, the seniors too had their dose of mud and water. The juniors managed to win this part of the brawl by pulling the seniors through the mud two out of three times.

Another outstanding feature of the tournament was the struggle between the classes when a large canvas ball about six feet in diameter was placed in the center of the football field and the respective teams lined up at each end of the field and charged the ball when the whistle was blown. First to hit the ball were Gene Holomon, a junior, and Dick Honrath, a senior. After that, all the boys flung themselves into the battle, only to come out tired, bruised, and a little beat-up. This mad scramble was won by the lucky seniors and brought the score up to two-two.

The third and last attraction was the wheel barrow races and the students seemed to hold their breath as the wheel barrows careened wildly around the curves of the field. This too was won by the seniors, thus making them victors of the tournament by a margin of 3-2.
