

Mass Meeting Called for Tuesday Night to Lay Plans for Election for Fifth Class City, Separate Schools

The teacher-shortage problem and the building material shortage problem will have been alleviated by the time Torrance is prepared to assume its roll of a separate school district, it is expected.

"Torrance will have the finest school system in California under our program, and we will save the taxpayers money as we accomplish this," Mrs. Carr said. County Counsel O'Connor told McCall, who was requested by the Parents' Association to secure the opinion, that Torrance has two ways open to securing its own separate school district. One is by adopting a charter, which would take about two to three years, and the other by voting itself as a Fifth Class City which can be accomplished within a few weeks and be effective within a year.

The Parents' Association chose the quicker method because Torrance can save nearly $1,000,000 in the two or three years it would take to write and adopt a charter, have it ratified by the legislature and then wait for its effectiveness date.

"We need this money for our own schools, for our own children," Mrs. Carr said. "The people of Torrance see this issue clearly."

The charter may be written by other interests in the meantime, it was said.

O'Connor's opinion, in part, follows:

"This is in reply to your letter of June 15, enclosing copy of a letter addressed to you by the Torrance Parents' Association, in which it asks whether it is possible for a Sixth Class City to form its own independent school district. We understand the inquiry is prompted by the fact that Torrance is considering the possibility of forming its own school district, whereas it is now a part of the Los Angeles City District."

"This is to advise that there is no procedure in the Education Code whereby a Sixth Class City which is part of a school district can withdraw from the school district and form its own district. On the contrary Section 2421 of the Education Code provides that every city except cities of the Sixth Class, unless subdivided by the legislative authority thereof, constitutes a separate school district. The only case on the subject which is at all pertinent is Scott v. County of San Mateo, 27 Cal. App. 708, decided in 1915. That case involved a Sixth Class City which was incorporated in 1911, at which time Section 1576 of the Political Code read the same as Section 2421 of the Education Code with the exception that the words 'except cities of the Sixth Class' were not contained therein. As soon as the city was formed it organized its own school district."

"During the same year the Political Code section was amended to include the words which now appear in Section 2421 of the Education Code and the court held that while they were not retroactive so as to affect the City of Hillsboro they would apply to cities incorporated thereafter so as to prevent such cities forming an independent school district."

"The only way that we know of by which Torrance can have its own school district is by becoming a Fifth Class City either under Act 5226 Deering's General Laws providing for the reorganizing of municipal corporations or by adopting a charter. If it should become a Fifth Class City then it would automatically become a separate school district."

"Very truly yours, 'J. H. O'Connor, County Counsel."

"By (Signed) W. E. Lamoreaux, 'W. E. Lamoreaux, Deputy County Counsel."

"As provided in Deering's General Laws, Act No. 5226, reads in part as follows:

"Section 1. Reorganization of Municipal Corporations.

"The legislative body of any Municipal Corporation of the sixth class upon receiving a petition for the reorganization of said corporation under a higher or lower class according to the classification now provided by law, signed by not less than one-fifth of the qualified electors of said corporation as shown by the votes cast at the last municipal election held therein, shall submit to the electors of such city at a special election to be called within two weeks after receiving such petition, the question whether such city shall so reorganize under and in accordance with the provisions of this act. Such election shall be held within four weeks after the time when so called. Notice of such election shall be given by publication for at least ten days in a newspaper published in said city."

"If the vote carries, the city clerk sends a certified copy, or abstract of the vote, to the Secretary of State. Thereafter 'at the time prescribed by law for a general municipal election in municipal corporations of the class under which it has been so voted to reorganize, such officers shall be elected in said city as are or may be by law required to be elected at such general municipal election; and from and after the qualification of such officers, said city shall belong to such class."

Mrs. Carr is requesting that all persons interested in better schools and better education for their children and who will work in the circulation of the petition to attend the meeting Tuesday night.

Only qualified electors may sign the petitions; they must be signed as the elector is registered; the precinct number must be provided; names must be signed in ink or indelible pencil. Complete instructions will be given at the meeting, Mrs. Carr said.

School Pupils' War Bond Buying in Year Reaches Total of $49,912,416

With characteristic enthusiasm Southern California's public, private and parochial school students purchased $49,912,416 in war stamps and "E" bonds during the past school year. The Los Angeles City School district turned in record sales of $15,512,695.60. The Catholic Diocese schools reported total sales of $8,200,164. The figures showed marked increases over the preceding school year. The majority of school districts showed proportionate increases sales.

The report was made by A. J. Gray, director education section, U. S. Treasury to the executive officers and members of the Los Angeles City and County School Savings and Loan Association, who for the past three years have sponsored the "Schools-at-War" thrift activities in the schools of the 11 Southland counties in cooperation with the Southern California War Finance committee.

The report further showed that 1165 schools certified a total of $32,741,890 in war stamp and bond sales allocated for the purchase of 3616 mobile units for use by the armed forces. It was noted that of the 32,320,000 items, approximately one half, or 1737 of the total units purchased, were field ambulances. Among the other popular articles selected by the students were: 337 "jeeps," 217 liaison planes, 146 "ducks," 164 primary trainers, 159 scout cars, 147 personnel carriers, 130 artillery repair trucks, 116 bomb trailers and 65 SNJ trainers.

This excellent record of war bond purchases and sales by the schools is a further demonstration of patriotic thrift practice in action.

A total of 1361 schools now fly treasury "Schools-at-War" flags, awarded when 90 percent or more of a school's students are regularly purchasing war stamps and bonds.
