Big Names In Lineup As Ball Play Continues

the popular pitcher who has won the hearts of the fans, trained his right by throwing rocks at squirrels back in Oklahoma. Pacific Clay has other hot pitchers, however, one being Chief Jamison, of Oklahoma City, who is a lefty, and the other, Bill Simmons, a civilian who played for four years with Montreal.

Pete Rafferty and Johnny Knox are a couple of Miller's Marines who are favored by the scouts in constant attendance at the games, it was said. Rafferty plays first base, and grew up in the Yankee stadium where he was a ball boy and bat boy as a kid. The Giants are said to have their eyes on the lad.

Knox, shortstop, has had some professional experience.

Norm Mohler, 2nd base, is the son of the famous left-handed second baseman of Coast League fame, Kid Mohler. He is a brother of Orv Mohler, the grid star.

Nick Buonarigo, Pacific Clay's fast catcher, is on the retired list at Hollywood and Seattle.

Chick Neal, center field, is another of the Marines who is making a name for himself.

Of the few times Rosebell Plumber has been defeated, Pacific Clay has been the winner three times.

But as Joe Miller says, he is interested only in winning tonight's game and not speculating on the outcome of Sunday's performance.

day's performance.

Standard Oil's team consists of "just a bunch of the boys from around these parts who like to play ball," said one of the El Segundo refinery athletic officials.

But there are some players of professional experience in the Standard Oil nine, according to Manager Ernest McCabe.

Ed Casarot, center fielder, formerly played with Portland and New Orleans. Dillenbeck, pitcher, was with San Diego before going into the Army. J. Wise, shortstop, was with Oakland, and spring, and Kyatt, first baseman brother of George Myatt of Washington played with Los Angeles for a year.

Neilson, pitcher, and Wydik, played with Western League teams, and Marsh, catcher, played with West Texas teams.

Stevens, third base, played at U.S.C. and with semi-pro outfits, and other semi-pro players include Anderson, utility infielder, and Chabraz, outfielder.

McGrath, outfielder, was with Los Angeles before going into the Navy. Cyr, outfielder in the Navy, is under contract to Pittsburgh.

Fisher, outfielder, also is in the Navy, and Puckrich, second base, is a semi-pro player as is Campbell, catcher.

Manager McCabe, who pitches, has played Texas and Western league ball.

There are some real names to compare with Rosebell's list, it was said.

When No. 23 of Rosebell gets up at bat and whangs a homer over right field fence, few of the fans know that he is Bill Seinsoth, owned by St. Louis Browns and now in the Army.

He pulled that Monday night, the second time in the tournament.

Nor do they realize that No. 17 is Chris Metkovich, of Cleveland, also in the service. He also thrilled the fans with homers over the fence.

Dale Alderson, of the Chicago Cubs, is a Rosebell pitcher. He is in the Navy, an athletic instructor at San Diego.

Jerry Priddy, for whom the Yanks once paid Kansas City $75,000, is now the property of the Washington Senators, but on duty with the Army Air Force.

Archie Campbell, formerly with the Yankees with 10 years in the major leagues, also has played for Cleveland and Cincinnati. Al Sabo, catcher, is signed to Rochester. Dunlap for request of Sacramento and Oakland, had to quit baseball at the request of the government to work as a veterinarian in war work. Montague was with Hollywood at the start of the present season, and is in the service.

Which team is going to meet Rosebell Sunday will decide tonight, but the outfit that is going to meet the winner of Sunday's game in the 30th game is pretty hard to pick. Rosebell, Standard and Pacific Clay are the only undefeated teams in the running, but still to be contended with are the Iron Workers, Pacific Pipe Lines, Bondy's All Stars, Paramount Cubs, El-
