Patik-Mettler Wedding Plans For December

A romance which began on Jan. 17, 1944, when a P38 Army plane crashed in a field across the street from her home, will culminate in the wedding of Miss Lorraine Mettler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mettler, 1919 W. 253rd st., and Lt. George J. Patik, AAF, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Patik of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, before Christmas. Miss Mettler became acquainted with the lieutenant when he arrived at the scene of the plane crash to investigate the accident, which resulted in the death of the pilot, 2nd Lt. Merle E. Ogden, who was forced down in the field just beyond Narbonne High School.

Lt. Patik, who is now in Germany, expects to arrive home in December. Miss Mettler will fly to join him for their wedding. A honeymoon trip will return them to Lomita for a visit. Since her graduation from Narbonne High School, S. 42, Miss Mettler has been employed in the office at the Shell Chemical, Torrance.

Few Veterans Resorting to G.I. Bill Of R. Unemployment Compensation

California already has absorbed into civilian life, civilian jobs and self-employment more than a quarter of a million war veterans, with less than one per cent of them resorting to G.I. unemployment compensation.

This was reported today by Governor Earl Warren by Colonel Alexander R. Heron, State Director of Reconstruction and Reemployment, who pointed out that the gigantic task of bringing more than a million returning war veterans into a smooth transition from their wartime regimentation into a peacetime economy in California has been well started. As the same time, he cautioned against any let-down in planning for jobs, both for veterans and other civilians, emphasizing that large numbers of these veterans have found jobs in war industries and soon must find other jobs.

Figures obtained from William T. Sweigert, executive secretary to Governor Warren and chairman of the committee on demobilized service men and women of the State Reconstruction and Reemployment Commission, and from James G. Bryant, Chairman of the State Employment Stabilization Commission, show the surprising results of California's plans to adjust war veterans to civilian life.

Sweigert reported that, as of August 10, 253,276 discharged service men and women were in California. Approximately 35 per cent of these were inducted into the armed forces in other states. Bryant reported that, as of the same date, 2,295 of these veterans were drawing G.I. unemployment compensation from the Federal Government. Bryant's commission acts as the agent for the Federal Government in the payment of these claims.
