Statewide Conference On Water Called By Warren For Dec. 6 and 7

A statewide conference on water problems today was called for Dec. 6 and 7 by Gov. Earl Warren.

The Governor announced the conference at the first meeting of the new State Water Resources Board. The board, he declared, "will have as its main objective the orderly development of a water plan for our entire State—a plan which gives sympathetic consideration to the needs and opportunities of every community—a plan which gives consideration to the fullest possible use of all the water in all our streams."

"It seems to me," Warren said, "that when we are dealing with such a gigantic and intricate problem, we should approach it first by getting the viewpoints of those who are interested in the use of water and its by-products, and also the thinking of those who have vision for the future of our state and its ultimate development through the utilization of water."

The Governor pointed out that in selecting the members of the board, he had "kept in mind what I sincerely believed was the intent of the Legislature, that men possessed of special training and experience be selected. I believe that each of you brings to this board understanding and ability which will enable you to render your state exceptional service. Big as the problem before you may seem, it's not too big for men to solve in a state which is willing to seek the solution."

The Governor's statement in part follows: "With the inauguration of this State Water Resources Board California has taken another long step forward in accepting State responsibility for the solution of its perplexing water problems."

"In the past numerous boards and commissions have been authorized by the Legislature to deal with specialized water problems on a temporary basis. This is the first time in the history of California that a permanent board has been created, by Legislative enactment, to consider all the beneficial uses of the State's water resources, including irrigation, generation of electric power, municipal and industrial consumption of water and power, regulation of salt water, preservation and development of wild life resources and recreational facilities."

"The problems which you face as you assume your tasks as members of this newly created Board are not, when taken singly, new to our state. In fact, it is probably a conservative statement to say that this state has more water law on its statute books than any other state in the country. California in the past century has been a testing ground for procedure, both in the legal field and in the construction of works for the control and beneficial use of water. We have witnessed at first hand the gradual evolution of the control and use of our water resources. First, there was the small individual, privately financed, project which disregarded all other considerations save immediate local need. Today we are devoting ourselves to integrated state planning in the face of rapidly increasing demands upon steadily diminishing supplies of water."

"No matter how prudent we are, California, a time is inevitably approaching when all possible water supplies will be put to use. We know now the growth and prosperity of our state will be limited by the extent to which water can be controlled and used. It is the solemn duty of our generation to plan wisely for the greatest possible use for all purposes of every drop of water. Upon such planning will depend the happiness and welfare of millions of people, not only of this generation but of future generations."

Prices Show Continued Rise In This Area

Led by increased costs for food and clothing, prices of living essentials in Los Angeles rose 0.8 percent between mid-August and mid-September, Charles A. Roush, economist for the Bureau of Labor Statistics announced here today. This is the seventh successive monthly increase and brings the Bureau's Consumers' Price Index to a 20 year high point at 132.0 percent of the 1935-39 average and 3.1 percent above the level of a year ago.

Over the 73 months since the start of the war in Europe the cost of goods in the Los Angeles family budget has gone up 21 percent. Prices of food have advanced 56 percent, clothing 43 percent, house furnishings 42.5 percent, and miscellaneous goods and services 25 percent. Rents, which were last surveyed in June, have risen only 3 percent while average prices for fuel, electricity and ice, the only major group to show a decline, have dropped more than 6 percent since Aug. 1939.

Food costs advanced 0.9 percent over the month as consumers paid higher prices for eggs (up to 9 percent), oranges, (up 2 percent), lettuce, (up 7 percent) and potatoes (up 4 percent). Partially offsetting these increases were declines in the prices of apples, (down 4 percent), green beans, (down 6 percent) and onions (down 20 percent). Over the past year food prices have risen more than 4 percent, and now are 3 tenths of one percent above the peak reached in June 1943.

Average costs of clothing were up 2.2 percent over the month as higher prices were reported for men's suits, work trousers, business shirts, shorts, sweaters, hats and shoes, and women's wool skirts, dresses, and gloves. Higher prices for sheets, blankets, bedroom sets and sofa beds were mainly responsible for a 2 tenths of one percent increase in the cost of house furnishings over the month.

Season On Quail And Pheasant Shortened

Orders signed by Governor Earl Warren and Warren T. Hannum, Director of Natural Resources, upon the recommendation of the Fish and Game Commission, now provide for a two day shorter pheasant season and a reduction in the daily possession limit.

Present regulations provide for a six day open season from Nov. 20 to Nov. 26 inclusive, and a daily possession limit of two male pheasants, with a seasonal limit of ten birds. On the opening day, Nov. 20, shooting is not permissible until ten o'clock in the morning, but on other days shooting time is sunrise to one-half hour after sunset. The entire state will be open, according to reports.

The quail season in Lassen and Modoc counties will be for six days only this year, during the open pheasant season Nov. 20th to 25th. The open quail season in these counties was shortened upon the recommendation of the Fish and Game Commission at the request of sports-

Further Plans On Torrance Tennis Club

Tennis enthusiasts of Torrance and vicinity are urged to meet with Elmer (Red) Moon, of the Torrance Recreation Department, next Sunday, Nov. 18, at 10:00 a. m. on the High School tennis courts with the idea in mind of forming a municipal club for the purpose of considering inter-city tennis relationships and the possibilities of participating in a winter tennis league.

Persons who are unable to attend this meeting should contact Moon at Torrance 2263 at the earliest opportunity as there is a chance to start play immediately if enough players sign up Sunday.

Shooting time on quail is restricted to between 10 a. m. and one-half hour after sunset. This change in shooting time was made at the last session of the Legislature and pertains to quail hunting throughout the state.
