Command of Navy Center Changes; Drake Retires

broker, he will resume his business and residence in Bath, after his leave, the commander said. He was called to active duty in 1940, serving aboard ship except for his tour in Torrance.

Both Commander Hagg and Commander Drake, and members of the staff, were entertained by city officials and civic leaders on Nov. 26, and Commander Hagg already has become well acquainted in the community.

Construction work on the last two of four 200 by 600 foot warehouses will be completed within a few weeks, and many trainloads of both light and heavy material already are stored at the center.

Employed at the base are about 150 civilian workers, and this payroll will be increased as the center's storage load increases, it was said.

The main entrance to the center, Gate No. 1, and the police department, are located on Washington Ave., and the plant is entered from Arlington Ave.

FERN AVENUE P.T.A.

AT YULETIDE PARTY

Fern Avenue P.T.A. was hostess at a benefit card party held last Thursday in St. Andrew's Guild Hall. A Yuletide theme was suggested in the use of Pyracanthus berries, red tapers and poinsettias as table decorations and the gay Christmas wrappings used for packaging the prizes. Winners at the close of the afternoon were announced as follows: Mmes. Campbell and Dalton, pinochle; Miss Mary Charlotte Waddell and Mmes. M. H. Husey and Benjamin, contract; Mmes. W. E. Walton, Tucker and Davis, door prizes; and Mmes. Allen and Green for the sewing group.
