Many Torrance residents are this week hunting in various parts of the state for what is termed "a legal deer." Those who have hunted this alert game know that "if it has horns (pluster) and the state for the table."

Approximately 200 deer tags heen issued locally, and from rumor, 11 deer have been bagged; from fact, 2. Cliff Waral drop is reported to have downed a buck somewhere in Kern County. (For some reason, deer hunters are reluctant to name the spot.) Dressed down, it was said to have cost about $2.50 as pound.

Another hunter identified, "who got a buck," was L. Christian. The only report in this case was that the steaks cooked in yevery nicely.
