Penicillin Use In Venereal Cases Cited

By ROY O. GILBERT, M.D., Acting Los Angeles County Health Officer

The use of penicillin has proven to be the most successful treatment of gonorrhea and provides an ideal procedure for office use in general practice. Approximately 500,000 units of penicillin are given by injection into the hip muscles. By repeated examinations the doctor determines cure. These tests-of-cure are the responsibility of the attending physician and are a very important part of the treatment.

Over-confidence in the ability of this modern intensive treatment to cure venereal infections, however, creates added danger. Because both syphilis and gonorrhea may be acquired at one exposure, the shorter treatment for gonorrhea may mask, but not prevent, the slower development of syphilis infection, suppressing the manifestations of syphilis so that the individual patient is unaware of the syphilitic infection. The short incubation period for gonorrhea and the long incubation period for syphilis will bring the patient to the doctor first for gonorrhea. But if penicillin is used and the blood test is negative, that patient should be under close observation by the physician at monthly intervals for at least 3 months and be warned to watch for rash or lesions.

When patients have been treated for gonorrhea under conditions where re-infection is not likely, the success rate of cure with penicillin is better than 90%. Quackery, self-treatment and reliance for help from friends are dangerous and ill-advised. Only a competent doctor can determine the presence of the disease and treat it. Clinics are open to those who cannot afford to pay private physicians. Information regarding these clinics can be obtained from the local health department.

Harbor City Youth Wounded In Accident

Clark Heuring, 15, of 629 Harbor Hills dr., suffered a chest wound when his friend Jim Wyatt, 17, 627 Harbor Hills dr., accidentally discharged a .22 rifle which he had been cleaning and pointed at young Heuring thinking it was not loaded.

Wyatt took the wounded lad to Harbor county hospital, where doctors gave Clark a good chance to recover.

Wyatt was released to his parents after questioning by police who listed the shooting as "accidental."

Laundry Thieves Carry Wash Out In Night Raids

Don't leave your laundry hanging on the line overnight—that is the advice of the Torrance police this week.

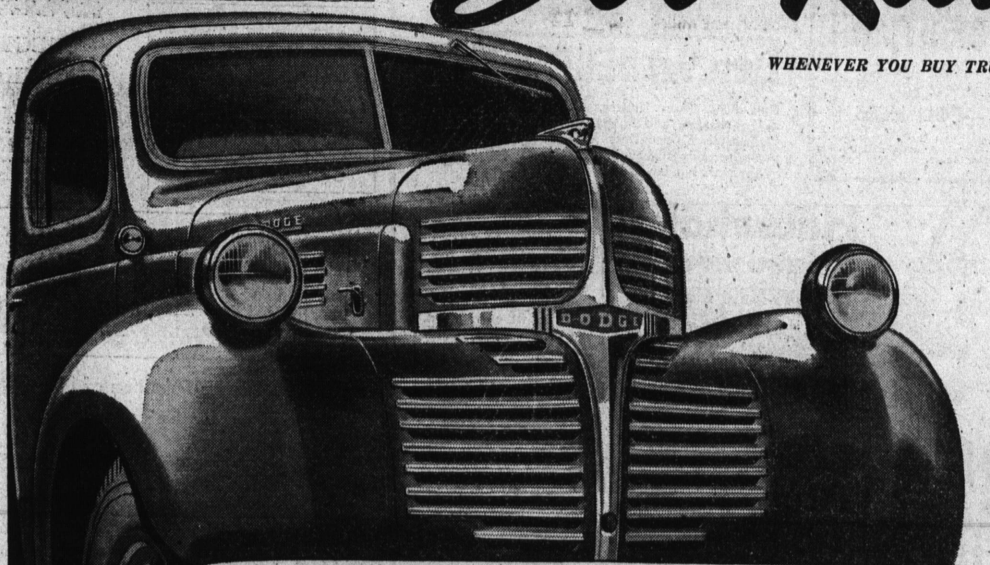

Four thefts of laundry reported to police Sunday night by local residents were from Mrs. William Found, 1330 Engracia ave., Mrs. C. E. McNew, 1634 Acaela ave., Mrs. H. Yeskin, 1610 Cota ave., and Mrs. LaVern Jones, 1612 Cota ave.

George Green, 1511 Post st., reported finding a bundle of laundry which had been thrown over his fence. Police picked up the laundry and brought it to the station for identification.
