174th St. Work Poses Problem

City Engineer G. M. Jain found himself faced with a new problem with the start of construction of the Torrance Manor homes tract.
Homer Bale, developer of the tract at Crenshaw Blvd. and 174th st., has installed walks and curbs around and throughout his tract, and has graded streets to the center line.
This has left the south half of 174th st. some 24 inches higher than the north half, and has necessitated barricades to prevent accidents.
Jain said that until he finds a place to put the dirt, he cannot start grading of the south half and will direct traffic to the north side of the street.
