

Junior High Hears Speech By Police Chief

The first of a series of class-sponsored assembly programs at Torrance Junior High School was held last Thursday morning when Edmund Powell's 8th grade made the arrangements for the assembly.

John Stroh, Torrance chief of police, spoke to the student body on juvenile delinquency. Assembly singing and a movie, "On Two Wheels," constituted the remainder of the program. It is planned to have assembly programs every two weeks with a different home-room acting as sponsor each time.

December 18 George Marich's homeroom will be in charge when the Christmas program will be presented. Marich's class will be assisted by the Drama club under the sponsorship of Mrs. Anna Lasley and Mrs. Maud Fraser, the Girls' Glee club, directed by Miss Merlyn Anderson, and the instrumental music department under the direction of Abe Milstein. Parents and friends are invited to this program which will be held at 1:00 p.m.

Another new activity at Torrance Junior High School can be found in the gym every Friday noon. Noon dances are to be held at that time. The first two were given by the Girls' Glee club as a means of raising money for some choir robes. Five cents admission is charged.

Even though last Thursday night was a rainy one, it did not dampen the spirits of those students, parents and teachers who turned out for a skating party held in Redondo Beach at the skating rink.

More than $45 was netted the Girls' Glee club choir robe fun as a result of the evening's fun. Mrs. Esther Crandall's 7th grade has just finished a study of the cotton industry. An exhibit of their efforts is to be found in the display case in the art room.

Miss Louise Robbins' and Lester Foster's 7th grade classes have been learning about the petroleum industry. Howard Huijzing's room has also been studying the cotton industry, and Darrel Slocum has had his pupils writing autobiographies. The eighth grade rooms are concentrating on a study of democracy and its institutions. Some art work on this subject is to be found in Edmund Powell's room.

THS Gym To Remain Open

Arrangements for the use of the gymnasium of Torrance high school for basketball during the holidays have been made by Elmer "Red" Moon of the City Recreation department and Principal Lloyd Waller.

The school and the city will each provide a director to supervise the play periods, extending from Saturday, Dec. 20 to Saturday, Jan. 3 inclusive with the exception of Sundays and Christmas and New Year's days. Hours will be from 10 a.m. to 12 noon, 1 to 5 p.m., and 6 to 8 p.m.

Local teams of all age groups wishing to practice in the gym during these times can make arrangements with Eddie Cole at the high school or Moon at 2263 or 1740-W. Persons using the facilities will be required to wear gym shoes and comply with all school rules.
