Las Vecinas

The new Women's Club recently organized for Hollywood Riviera and Seaside Ranchos is becoming a prominent group in the new section of Torrance. At the last meeting the name "Las Vecinas" was chosen, carrying out the historic background of the section. Its English equivalent is "The Women Neighbors."

A fashion preview was presented by Bill Cheatwood of Beverly Hills, designer. She presented many beautiful numbers made of leather and tweed. Other numbers were from the collections designed by Athena, Ernest Newman, Rose Ann, and the resort wear from the House of Meredith, all of Beverly Hills.

The models were Betty Byers, Bobbe Byrd, Eileen Garber, Jo Ann Harris, Betty Jenkins, Heidi Olsen, Lusille Robinson, Eddie Rosenberger, Bette Shott, Tamie Smythe, Ella Stewart, Beverly Thompson, and Charlene Whyte.

Notice to all home owners: There is a special meeting this evening for all members of the Seaside Ranchos Home Owners Association on the very important subject of the incorporation of Seaside Ranchos. Meeting will begin at 8 p.m. at the Hollywood Riviera Beach Club. Remember, this evening.

The second meeting of a combined Seaside-Ranchos-Hollywood Riviera women's group, forming a new women's social club, was held at the Riviera Beach Club one afternoon recently with a fashion preview of mid-winter styles. Seaside and Riviera women joined professional models in showing the new fashions provided by Beverly Hills and Westwood shops. Modeling from Seaside Ranchos were the Mesdames Betty Jenkins, Bette Shott, Eddie Rosenberger and Lucille Robinson.

The newly-formed club, Las Vecinas or "the neighbors," still has openings for new members from the Riviera or Seaside Ranchos and meets monthly at the Riviera Beach Club. Temporary officers include two Seaside women, Mrs. William Schmitz as co-chairman and Mrs. Harvey Spelman as secretary. Plans in the near future call for a semi-formal Christmas dance on Saturday evening, Dec. 11, and a children's party on Dec. 18. Anyone interested in joining should contact the depot on her street. Seaside depots include Mrs. Mary Conover, Sharayne Lane; Mrs. Emily Honzik, Reese; Mrs. Bette Shott, Carol, and Mrs. Margaret Jeffries, Doris Way.

Walteria First Grade Notes

Mrs. Esther Theriault's first grade in Walteria School took a trip recently to Griffith Park Zoo on the school bus. The stories which followed have served as a definite link to the school curriculum.

The children made three stories of their trip—one of the interesting things they saw on the bus ride and two of the zoo animals. In writing the stories, the children had a "number lesson." They had gone thru three tunnels; there were two zebras, and other number words such as "many," "more," "taller," and "some."

Art was also exemplified by the children's pictures of the trip. Color took on a definite meaning through discussion of the color of the various animals. The elephant caused much discussion. He made "muddy" colored "dirty" colored. Finally the children decided he was gray. But how to get gray was a question since it was not in their Crayola boxes. After some experimenting they found they could make gray by using their pencils and shading the paper.

Science was brought into the picture. A baby lion had been in the story, the children said, "We saw a baby lion." One child added: "A baby lion is a cub." Discussion followed as to the names of other baby animals and the correct names of them were learned.

Reading of the completed stories then followed. Language played an important part throughout the lessons and use of the words "saw" and "seen" was explained. Games, music, rhythms, safety, health also had a definite place in the study of the trip.

Children learn from experiences and the trip to the zoo was a most profitable one, both from the viewpoint of enjoyment as well as of the relationship to the school curriculum.
