Luncheon was served to 75 women at small tables in the church parlors. Flower decorations were profuse about the rooms and at the speakers table, at which Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Miller, Mrs. Alice Palmer, president, and her staff were seated. Mrs. Palmer welcomed the incoming president, Mrs. Evelyn Schwab, and presented beautiful corsages to the four past presidents who were honored guests of the society: Mesdames Melba Birgeon, Lola Mae Tomkins, Jane Burdge, and Selma Keeler.

A pleasant part of the program was the presentation of a handsome modern floor lamp and past president's pin to Mrs. Palmer, in recognition of her long and able service as president. Mrs. Vandewater, vice president and program chairman, was surprised with an appreciation gift of silver creamer and sugar. Devotions, led by Mrs. Miller, and two lovely solos by Mrs. Wilma Crosby, accompanied by
