

New Freight Truck Service in California

Starting June 12 Santa Fe Railway Less-Than-Carload Truck Service Will Operate between San Francisco, Los Angeles, Long Beach, San Bernardino, San Diego and Intermediate Points

This new service will give flexible and expedited truck service for the swift handling of less-than-carload freight between all points on the Santa Fe Railway in California, except a few of the points east of Bak-ersfield and San Bernardino.

Here's how California shippers will benefit from this new Santa Fe Railway truck service:

... Single line truck service between all points listed below, giving convenient, efficient and fast freight operations.

... The San Joaquin Valley will have a comprehensive and expedited service.

... All of Santa Fe Railway and Santa Fe Transportation Company facilities in Cali-fornia will be available to shippers using this new service.

... New equipment consisting of modern type and design, pneumatic tired trucks, trailers and semi-trailers. Trucks, trailers and semi-trailers will consist of van-type bodies and stake body units.

... Pick up and delivery arrangements will be coordinated with this new less than carload truck service

Rotarians may have a chance to get some of the kinks out at their regular meeting tonight under the supervision of an ex-pert on the subject. Ray Larson, a local chiroprac-tor and member of the Rotary Club, has been booked to give a talk on his profession. His talk has program officials stumped: They haven't decided whether' to bill it as a craft talk or a pro-fessional discourse.
