Harbor JC Sets Dates for Exams

Los Angeles Harbor Junior College announces that classification examinations for entering students will be held twice during the month of August—on August 15 and August 24 at 2 p.m. on the college campus.

All students planning to enter the college in September who have not previously taken the classification examinations should arrange to take them on one of these dates. No students will be permitted to register in September without previously completing these examinations.

Miss Florence Murphy, head counselor, announces that no appointment is necessary for taking the tests.

Park Sought For Seaside

Seaside may get a park of their own, if negotiations now under way between Developer Truman Browne and city officials prove fruitful, according to City Manager George Stevens.

Browne's associates and city officials are now attempting to locate a five-acre park site in the subdivision north of the Seaside school which will soon be under construction.

The only recreation area available there now is the El Retiro park in Hollywood Riviera. This area can be reached only by crossing busy Pacific Coast highway.

Ex-Railroader Dies Here at 91

Last rites were conducted Saturday afternoon in the Stone and Myers Chapel for Burton Fremont Dye, 91, a resident of Torrance since he retired as a conductor on the Burlington Railroad 26 years ago.

He died at his home, 1609 Cota avenue, last Wednesday.

Surviving are his widow, Lilian M. Dye, and a brother-in-law, Dr. A. P. Stevenson of Torrance.

Private cremation followed the services which were conducted by Rev. Leonard Babcock and Rev. Ben H. Lingenfelter.
